Yokohama Is Damaged More Than Capital

General Fukuda Reduces Population Of Tokio To Less Miserable
STREETS FILLED WITH DEAD
New Islands Appear While Others, Thickly Populated, Sink In Waters

The Japanese nation, stricken by what is probably the greatest disaster of the modern era, turns bravely to the tremendous tasks ahead, marshaling her shattered resources to succor the hundreds of thousands who suffer from injury and from hunger, and laying her plans for the rebuilding of her ruined cities.

While the rest of the world hurries its ships of war and commerce deep laden with relief supplies to Japanese waters, Premier Yamamoto broadcasts a message to his people urging them to unite in the trying hours through which they are passing and appealing to them to make a supreme effort to relieve the suffering and expedite the work of reconstruction.

The cables say that already orders for building materials have been received in England, while leading construction engineers and architects in New York have proffered their assistance in making a new Japan.

CITY OF DESOLATION
Yokohama is a city of desolation, for more severely smitten than is the capital, Tokio. A message received from Kobe at the state department in Washington confirms previous word that the great port of Japan has been completely destroyed with a tremendous loss of life, including Americans. The city's streets and canals are filled with dead; one dispatch says that only three or four houses have been spared. The harbor is practically of no value to the relief ships for the floor has been raised, the breakwaters torn asunder, and the many lighthouses with only two exceptions demolished.

Five hundred foreigners are said to have been killed in Yokohama. A dispatch from the Tokyo correspondent of the Central News received in London says that 200,000 are dead in that city, but the correspondent of the Associated Press, in a dispatch filed on Tuesday, puts the number of 50,000. Not less than 200 foreigners, he estimates, perished in Yokohama.

Through the stricken area the authorities are trying to meet the two immediate needs of the situation: care for the wounded and food for the hungry.

NO DISORDERS REPORTED
Meanwhile there are no reports of disorder, although there is some plundering and looting. General Fukuda is determined to deduct from the population of the capital as quickly as possible in order that martial law may be revoked. The organization of relief work through the rest of the world proceeds rapidly, and already the United States has been of material assistance. The American destroyer, No. 211, arrived in Kobe Wednesday with supplies, followed soon by the shipping board steamer City of Spokane, which leaves Yokohama Thursday with 5,000 tons of flour.

Many other American-owned vessels are either taking on cargoes of relief supplies at Pacific coast ports or are on the way to Japan. American response to the call for assistance has been immediate and from all parts of the country come announcements of gifts in money and kind.

NEW ISLAND APPEARS
Peking—The police of Chiba, at the northwest corner of Aokio bay report a new island off the Izu peninsula while they say the island of Oshima, which contained an active volcano, is invisible and is feared to have sunk down with its 10,000 or more inhabitants.

There still is no news from the Bonin Islands and catastrophic changes there are feared.

By Associated Press
Washington—Appropriation of $10,000,000 for federal work in enforcing prohibition next year, an increase of $1,000,000 over last year, has been requested of the budget bureau by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. An increase of $500,000 additional for enforcing the narcotic drug laws also has been asked by Commissioner Haynes, both requests now being before the budget office.

Ford Talks To Weeks On Power Plans

Washington, D. C.—Negotiations were resumed Thursday between the government and Henry Ford on the latter's offer to acquire the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power plants and nitrate properties. Accompanied by his son Edsel, and one of his engineers, Mr. Ford came to Washington to confer with Secretary Weeks and later with President Coolidge regarding the project.

COUNCIL KILLS MAYOR'S VETO OF CAR MARKING

Veto Message Says Police Department Car Should Be Identified

The common council Wednesday evening by a vote of 10 to 2 refused to sustain the veto of Mayor Henry Reuter of the resolution adopted August 15, ordering the letters "A. P. D." painted on the front doors of the Cadillac touring car operated by the police department. The vetoed resolution also rescinded an action taken by the council on Aug. 1 when it was voted to paint the letters "Department of Police, City of Appleton" on the car. The vote which overrode the mayor's veto was taken after a hot discussion.

The vote was as follows:
Against sustaining the veto—Beske, Callahan, Hanson, Laabs, Lappen, McGilgan, Schultz, Thompson, Wood.
For sustaining the veto—Foss, Haasman, Smith.

Mayor Reuter based his veto on the charge that the police car should be identified as such. He said that private corporations identify their automobiles by lettering their names on them and that taxpayers have a right to proper identification of city property.

CLAIM INTERFERENCE
Against the mayor's argument was raised the objection that conspicuous lettering of the car would interfere with efficient discharge of police duties. Alderman Laabs said that the police and license committee, which introduced the resolution that resulted in ordering the letters "A. P. D." placed on the car doors, had made an investigation of police car lettering and was convinced that the larger lettering would jeopardize the success of the department's operations.

Mayor Reuter's veto follows:
"Whereas, at a regular meeting of the Common Council, held on August 1st, 1923, at the council chambers of the city of Appleton, Wis., it was ordered that the Cadillac Touring car, owned by the city of Appleton, Wis., and in use by the Police Department

UPHAM URGES U. S. ACTION IN EUROPE

Treasurer Of G. O. P. Committee Says Matter Is Business Proposition

Chicago—American intervention with a firm hand to break the deadlock between France and Germany on reparations was advocated by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national committee. He expressed the belief that congress should give President Coolidge authority to appoint a commission of American business men to determine quickly what reparations the Germans should pay. "It's largely a business proposition," he said, "and should be settled by business men."

Mr. Upham, before going to Europe where he spent three months, was asked by President Harding to give him his impressions of the European situation. The president did before he returned. Mr. Upham will go to Washington next week and expects to see President Coolidge.

United States Agents In Japan

This is the official American diplomatic group in Japan, with which the State Department at Washington is frantically trying to re-establish communication. The picture was snapped aboard the Admiral Liner President McKinley in Yokohama Harbor, at the welcome for the new U. S. minister. Woods, newly appointed ambassador to Japan.

Retiring Commander Suggests New Measures To Offset Decimated Numbers

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—James W. Willett, retiring commander in chief of the national grand army in concluding the report of his stewardship here Thursday declared his year of service to the organization had been the happiest of his life. "I thought it was the proudest moment of my life," he said, "when the badge of commander-in-chief was pinned on my breast. Now I know when I do surrender the gavel, the beginning of the proudest day will have reached the end."

Cooperation. Commander Willett said, had been the key to the success of his administration and he extended his thanks individually and collectively to his executive family for their "outstanding teamwork."

"Our ranks are thinning. During the past year sixty deaths of past department commanders have been recorded in the general orders. During the current year, approximately 20,000 of our comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, including other union veterans of the war of the rebellion, have gone to that bourne from whence no traveler returns."

ARIZONA MEMBERS DWINDLE
"The membership of the department of Arizona has dwindled down to approximately forty comrades, scattered all over the state, and there is no Grand Army post as I understand it in any locality within the state, with sufficient numerical strength to maintain a post. Investigation of our records show this condition has obtained during the last two years. We must not neglect the survivors of the department and a way out must be found to take care of them. I have examined the rules and regulations of our organization and have been unable to find any that will cover the condition which now exists in Arizona."

Commander Willett suggested that a provision commander be named, under revised rules, who would have authority to care for the additional states which, sooner or later will find themselves in the position of Arizona thus permitting activities of the veterans to continue "as long as they can muster within the state a quorum numerically strong enough to maintain a post."

Chillicothe—An attack was directed at Lieutenant Governor George F. Comings, La Follette Progressive candidate for governor, by Lieutenant Colonel Byron T. Beveridge, inspector general of the Wisconsin National Guard, at exercises here in connection with the dedication of a new armory.

Lieutenant Colonel Beveridge, a former member of the Thirty-Second Division criticized the lieutenant governor for his quoted remarks said to have been made before a legislative committee during a hearing on the bill to abolish the national guard, a move that Mr. Comings favored.

Chicago—National Socialist party headquarters here, commenting on a report of Wednesday night that Eugene V. Debs and William Z. The announcement stated that Mr. Debs had announced that he was not in sympathy with the trades union education league plan of education, which is credited to Foster, although he is an advocate of education.

Post-Crescent Opens Way To Aid Stricken Japanese

Appleton people have been touched by the plight of hundreds of thousands of Japanese who have been rendered homeless and penniless by the earthquake and fire which left a trail of devastation in the unfortunate islands. The Post-Crescent has been asked many times where money for relief of the stricken Japanese should be sent, indicating that there is a profound desire here to be of help to the suffering nation. President Calvin Coolidge has issued an appeal for help, asking for $5,000,000 for the relief of the island inhabitants. The Red Cross has been designated as the official agency for collecting and transporting this money.

There is no Red Cross in Appleton, however, and there is no other organized agency here to accept donations of Appleton people. In order to provide a convenient way for Appletonians to assist the Japanese, The Post-Crescent has arranged with a committee of public spirited citizens and the chamber of commerce to collect the money and send it to the national Red Cross. The committee consists of Attorney J. P. Frank, Mrs. S. C. Rosebush, Gustave Keller, H. L. Davis, William Fountain and W. H. Zuehlke. Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, has been designated as secretary of the fund which will be known as the Japanese Relief Fund.

Readers of The Post-Crescent are invited to send their contributions to Mr. Corbett. Checks should be made payable to the Japanese Relief Fund and addressed to the chamber of commerce. Mr. Corbett will bank the funds and see to their transfer to the Red Cross.

President Coolidge in his appeal for aid for the Japanese pointed out the terrible suffering in the nation and urged American people to give as liberally as their means will permit. The arrangement here will make it easy for Appleton people to do their share toward relieving the distress in the Mikado's kingdom.

New Secretary To President Is Member Of G. O. P. National Committee

Coolidge Urges Republican Party To Strive For Political Unity

By Associated Press
Copyright 1923 by The Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Enter C. Bascom Slemph as secretary to the President of the United States; exit, George B. Christian, friend and associate for thirty years of the late President Harding.

Mr. Slemph hardly knows President Coolidge. He was chosen upon the advice of Speaker Gillett, Secretary of War Weeks and Senator Curtis of Kansas because Mr. Coolidge asked them to select a man who knew congress by its first name. Ever since the appointment was made the fact that Mr. Slemph is the member of the Republican national committee from Virginia and one of the most influential men in gathering of delegates from the south to the national nominating convention has been emphasized. To Mr. Coolidge's friends it is attributed the political vision in the appointment—not to the president, though undoubtedly he will benefit from it.

Mr. Slemph is the type of secretary who is expected to make "the boys," namely the party workers, feel at home when they enter the White House. Handshaking and a pleasant smile goes a long way in politics and it sometimes a personal favor that means expedition in the handling of a case before the government. Mr. Slemph is in a position to wield enough influence possibly to insure the nomination of the man now in the White House. Mr. Coolidge himself is personally unknown to the rank and file of the party or even the leaders. Mr. Slemph knows most everybody in national politics.

WHITE HOUSE MOUTHPIECE

Most important for a private secretary, however, if he is to be the mouthpiece of the White House is to know the mind of his chief. Both Joseph P. Tumulty and George Christian knew their respective presidents intimately—they could almost gauge their minds before action would be taken. Mr. Coolidge has with him as personal secretary Edward Clarke who was secretary to the president and before that was secretary to Senator Lodge for many years. He, too, knows his way about in the national capital. The retention of two secretaries is somewhat unusual but Mr. Clarke probably will be carried on the White House payroll as one of the executive clerks.

Mr. Slemph's first day had an atmosphere of politics in it. Senator James Watson of Indiana was one of the callers. He happened in to see Mr. Coolidge.

"What did you and the president talk about?" the senator from Indiana was asked as he emerged from the executive offices.

"Well, I told him I was going to Missouri to make a speech to the republicans there," replied the senator. "And I asked him if he had any message. He told me to tell them to 'get together.'"

It was only a week or so ago when Jim Watson went to the White House to pay his respects to Mr. Coolidge. On leaving he said the president had talked to him about the necessity of getting the Republican party united.

"I told the president," remarked Senator Watson with a smile, "that he was certainly talking to the right man."

CHOOSE RIGHT MAN

Senator Watson was chairman of the resolutions committee of the 1920 convention which drew up the national platform. He is one of the most interesting political personalities in the senate. It was he who made the

APPEAL FOR JAP AID MEETS WITH QUICK SUCCESS

Red Cross Already Has Ordered Purchase Of Food, Medicine And Shelters

By Associated Press
Washington—While the American Red Cross pushed forward practical relief measures for the Japanese earthquake sufferers, indications Thursday were that the appeal for a $5,000,000 relief fund to be administered by the organization was meeting generous and quick response through the local Red Cross chapters, but the flow of contributions continuing to reach headquarters here raises hopes of early realization of the amount sought.

An initial purchase of food, medical supplies, and shelter material to go forward at once already has been ordered by the Red Cross, after taking over Wednesday the entire purchasing and shipping department of the American relief administration in order expedite the relief. Approximately 320,000 tons of shipping facilities in the Pacific has been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross by the shipping board for the transportation of supplies.

DESTROYERS REACH SCENE

Meanwhile destroyers of the Asiatic fleet are believed to have already brought American aid to the stricken area, dispatches to the navy department from Admiral Anderson, commander of the fleet, indicating that the first group of destroyers had arrived at Yokohama. Other army and navy vessels are either loading or enroute from Manila and other points in the Far East with relief supplies.

As relief measures went forward, the state department anxiously awaited further word as to the fate of Americans in the stricken offices. Consul Dickover at Kobe, in reporting to the state department Wednesday night the death of several more Americans, said a list of casualties would be wiremailed later. All foreign residents of Yokohama he said, were making their way from the "completely destroyed city" to Kobe as rapidly as they could. The consul reported that approximately half of Tokyo had been destroyed by fire. The dispatch dated Sept. 5, said the President Jefferson was saying that day with about 300 destitute Americans and aliens who will need assistance at Seattle.

Another Kobe dispatch received by the department said the American naval hospital at Yokohama had been destroyed and that Chief Pharmacist L. Zembeck, his wife and two enlisted men had been killed, and Dr. U. R. Webb, in command of the hospital badly injured.

RECORD NUMBER OF CHILDREN ATTEND SCHOOLS IN CITY

Larger Attendance Than Last Year And Registration Is Not Complete

Present registrations at public and parochial grade schools indicate that a record number of children will be in attendance during the coming year. In some schools a count has not yet been taken and in all, the registration is far from complete. Many children are out of the city with their parents, others are still helping on the farm and some have not been sent to school because parents are moving from one district to another.

On the first day, the registration at the first ward school was exactly what it had been the previous year on the first day, 525. There were 713 children registered at the three schools in the second district on Wednesday with 271 in the Lincoln school, 221 in the Columbus and 221 in the Franklin. An accurate count had not been made in the third district schools but it was expected that the enrollment would be a little larger. At the fourth district schools, 230 were registered on Wednesday. This is 15 more than last year exclusive of the kindergarten.

About 1,400 children were registered in the Catholic schools, with 235 at Sacred Heart, 740 at St. Joseph and about 400 at St. Mary. The enrollment in all of these schools is not complete since a large number of children from the country attend these institutions. The enrollment at St. Paul school on Wednesday was 192, which is six more than last year. It is expected that by the end of the year, the number will have reached 200. No count has been made at Zion school where the registration is far from complete because of the large number of children who are helping on farms for a few more days.

LIGHTNING HITS CHIMNEY OF MEADE-ST RESIDENCE

Two fire alarms were answered by the fire department in the same hour Wednesday afternoon. One of the trips was to a home that had been struck by lightning. It was that of A. W. Hoffman, 505 Meade-st. Three or four women were gathered in the home at the time and the loud crash gave them the impression the home was on fire. Only a part of the chimney was knocked off. The lightning hit the home at about 3 o'clock.

The other fire occurred 40 minutes earlier in the basement of Abraham Kron, 488 Atlantic-st., where paper being burned in the furnace clogged up the chimney, filling the house with smoke. No damage was caused however.

AUGMENT BAND FOR CONCERT AT 5TH WARD SCHOOL

Parents Urged To Keep Children Quiet During Musical Numbers

When the 121st Field Artillery band gives its concert at the Fifth ward school on Friday, there will remain only one more concert in the series. The program for Friday is being especially prepared and a special rehearsal of the band will take place Thursday evening to work on several numbers.

The clarinet section of the band will be augmented on Friday evening by M. J. Heynen and H. I. Smith of Green Bay. It is predicted that a record crowd will be present.

In order that people may enjoy the concert to the fullest, it has been suggested that parents warn their children to keep quiet during the musical numbers. Although all of the disturbances, talking and noise does not come from the children, if they are encouraged to keep quiet, the parents will also consider the inconvenience to others of talking, laughing and moving about during the music. Automobile owners, too, it is said, could be more courteous by remaining in place while the music is playing and leaving the grounds between sections if they do not remain to the end.

RAILWAYS MUST PAY $16,000 ROAD COST

The commission likewise assessed $4,000 of the cost of a grade crossing on highway 15 between Marinette and Peshigo against the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company.

SEYMOUR GIVING PAVEMENT DANCE

Another Of Outdoor Concert Series Will Be Played By Band Tonight

Another of the summer series of pavement dances and band concerts will be given by Seymour Military band at Seymour at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Numbers of Appleton people are expected to go to the neighboring city by automobile to hear the music and enjoy the dancing.

The dances have been conducted by Seymour Chamber of Commerce as a means of helping to support the band. The musical organization has played almost every week this summer for its home people, and also has taken part in outside events such as the Independence day celebration here and the Northeastern Wisconsin fair. It furnished the principal music for the Seymour fair.

FARMER MEETING SET FOR SEPT. 27

Sept. 27 is the date set for the next get-together meeting of farmers and Appleton businessmen. The gathering originally was planned for Sept. 13 but the program-committee found that the farmers are so busy with harvesting, threshing and silo filling that the attendance on that date might be limited. The meeting therefore will be held Thursday, Sept. 27 and the place will be South Greenville Grange hall.

ADOPT PLANS FOR 100 FOOT STREET TO MENASHA ROAD

Winnebago-co May Help City
Acquire Lynch Property
For Street

Preliminary steps toward acquiring the right of way for extension of Cherry-st from the southern terminus of the Cherry-st bridge now building to the Foster-st road were taken at the regular meeting of the common council in the city hall Wednesday evening when plans prepared by Engineer R. M. Connelly were adopted. These plans, it was said, will be presented to the state highway commission which has been asked to assist in paving the street and to relocate highway 15 over it.

It was explained that acquisition of the property for the street will be undertaken soon but it is probable the advice of the highway commission will first be obtained. It is proposed to build a street 100 feet wide but no definite plans for width of roadways or of boulevards were considered.

COUNTY MAY HELP
Alderman J. A. Wood intimated that he would oppose purchasing property for the street if the abutting property holders were to be assessed only 12 1/2 per cent of the cost of improving the street. He favors assessments of benefits and damages. There is a possibility that if the highway commission orders relocation of Highway 15 over the Cherry-st bridge that the problem of obtaining a right-of-way through the Lynch property on the Foster-st road will be shifted to the Winnebago-co board inasmuch as the property is in Winnebago-co.

A fine of not more than $25 and imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 30 days will be the penalty for failing to stop at an arterial highway in Appleton according to an ordinance presented for adoption Wednesday night. The ordinance names streets to be designated as arterial highways and prescribes penalties for crossing them without first stopping at the intersection. No announcement was made as to when the arterial signs will be erected.

WOULD BOOST LICENSES
Another ordinance introduced Wednesday night would increase the license fees exacted from transient merchants and peddlers. This ordinance, submitted by the retail trades division of the chamber of commerce, drew the opposition of Mayor Reuter and Alderman Laabs who contended that it creates too great a monopoly for merchants here and will have the effect of preventing a possible decrease in living costs.

The common council probably will not be able to help the Aid Association for Lutherans to prevent the August Brandt Co. from "storing" used cars on the east side of Superior-st alongside the Insurance-bldg. thereby preventing tenants in the buildings from parking their cars there, as is alleged in a protest presented to the council. Theodore Berg advised the aldermen that the aid association's only redress is to secure an injunction restraining the Brandt company from parking or storing its cars on the east side of Superior-st on the ground that they constitute a nuisance.

EIGHT AT STATE HI-Y CLUB CAMP

Eight Appleton boys spent two weeks in training for Hi-Y club work at Camp Manitowish, Boulder Junction, returning here Monday. They were Harold Zuehlke, Karl Engler, Karl Peckard, Reynolds Challoner, Donald and Douglas Hyde, Henry Johnston and Lawrence Bohan.

J. E. Dennison, boys work secretary of the Appleton Y. M. C. A., was with the boys at the camp and was one of the instructors in Hi-Y work. Manitowish is the state Y. M. C. A. camp, situated in the northern woods. The last few weeks of its session are devoted to Hi-Y activities. The boys spent a week on a canoe trip through many of the lakes of the north and devoted a week to the study of the work of their organization. They heard talks by Y. M. C. A. leaders and had opportunity to interview these men.

Quickly Heals Old Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops Itching of Eczema
Almost Immediately.

"Peterson's Ointment Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—I want to tell you how much I do love Peterson's Ointment for the good it has done me. My sore was on my left leg, was 4 1/2 inches by 2 1/2 inches wide—is all healed up beautifully new and then too it was so soothing on such a raw sore. I can't say enough praise for the good it has done me and will say a good word in your favor." Very truly yours, Miss Kate Kull, Sigel, Ill.

"I'd rather get a letter like that," says Peterson of Buffalo, "than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man."

"For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered."

It stops itching in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful.

Fear'd Injury Would Keep His Family Abroad

Hopes which he had cherished for months of bringing his family here from Germany came near being blighted for a time for Fred Peckman, an employee of Standard Manufacturing company, who was injured slightly about 5:45 Tuesday afternoon when thrown from his bicycle. The accident happened on College-ave east of Durkee-st where a youth, also riding a bicycle, collided with Peckman, and threw him to the pavement.

Peckman is lame and the fall bruised his hip. His fear when picked up by onlookers was not so much that he might have suffered injuries, but that he might be laid off from work which would prevent the accumulation of enough money to bring his family from Germany. The man is a recent arrival in this country and wants to make Appleton his permanent home.

He was not at work Wednesday, but it is said his injuries were of a minor nature.

U. S. ORDERS PROBE OF SUGAR BEET SITUATION

A comprehensive investigation of the cost of producing sugar beets has been ordered by the United States Tariff commission, according to information just received at the Chamber of commerce.

This investigation having to do with sugar beets is wholly distinct from the investigation, now well advanced, having to do with the cost of producing sugar in Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Louisiana and the beet sugar mills of the west. The investigation is for the purposes of the so-called flexible provisions of the tariff act of 1922, which empower the

Man 74 Years Old Is "Rejuvenated" In 3 Weeks Without Gland Operation

Kansas Contractor Tells of Wonderful Results Obtained in Test of New Scientific Discovery.

Thomas J. Glascock, 74, well-known Kansas contractor, declares he has virtually been made young again by the recently discovered korex compound, which is pronounced superior to "gland treatments" as an invigorator and revitalizer.

"I feel like I did at 35," says Mr. Glascock, "and seem to be getting stronger every day. During my three weeks' use of the new discovery, pains and weaknesses of many years' standing disappeared almost magically. Today I am as vigorous and supple as I was in the prime of life. Furthermore, when I began using the compound, my memory was virtually gone and I was almost blind. Now my mind is clear and active and I can read the finest print without difficulty in living costs."

In order to find out whether the results were lasting, Mr. Glascock waited six months before reporting on his test of the discovery. On this point he says:

"Every passing day strengthens my conviction that my restoration is not only complete but permanent. I can't express the happiness this great discovery has brought to me. It has made me 'young' again. Similar reports are being made almost daily. For instance, D. W. Wood of New Orleans, past 60 years of age, says: 'The compound has brought me back to as good, healthy physical condition as I enjoyed at 35. I am apparently as supple as at 25 and my eyesight is better than for years. I would not take $5,000 for what the discovery has done for me.'"

The compound is a simple home treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless, yet rated as the quickest and most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on lower spinal nerve centers and certain glands and blood vessels, it often brings amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours, according to thousands who have tested it.

"It is wonderful," writes a resident of Hollister, Cal. "In less than 24 hours you can feel it does the work. It makes one feel young as a young man. I am more than happy and glad I tried it." Another Californian says: "The compound is a world's wonder. I feel like I was about 25 and here I am nearly fifty."

The compound has been tested in all parts of the country and has won the praises of thousands who suffered

TAKE INTEREST IN BOYS, ASHE PLEADS

Rotarians Are Told Of Need For Boys' Leaders By Kaukauna Speaker

A plea for greater interest in work among boys was made by W. F. Ashe of Kaukauna in a talk before the Rotary club at the noon luncheon at Conway hotel Tuesday on "Leadership in Boys Work."

Mr. Ashe showed what can be accomplished for boys by describing his experiences as director of playground work in the city of Pittsburgh. He also referred to the work that is being done for the youth of Kaukauna.

Rotarians were urged to give part of their time to the leadership of boys. Greater interest should be taken in their welfare, said Mr. Ashe. David Wilson, University of Illinois football star who has been engaged as coach at Appleton high school, was a guest of the club.

It is expected that D. K. Allen of Oshkosh, district attorney of Winnebago-co, will be the speaker at next week's meeting. Mr. Allen has waged an aggressive war against unregulated country roadhouses and dance halls, and probably will take up this subject.

president to raise or lower duties by not more than 50 per cent.

The agricultural investigation of the cost of growing sugar beets has been ordered under the general powers of the commission, and will undoubtedly cause investigators to enter Wisconsin as there are several producing districts in the state. Two crews will be sent out shortly, comprising 12 to 14 investigators trained in the agricultural industries from nerve weakness, lost or depleted vigor, neurasthenia, premature age, impaired glandular activity and lack of animation and vital force. Its effects seem to be virtually the same on both young and old. Physicians say the principal active ingredient of the compound gives speedy satisfaction in obstinate cases that defy all other treatments. Elderly people pronounce the discovery a real "fountain of youth."

Realizing that thousands of enfeebled, half-alive folk may consider such news "too good to be true," the American distributors have agreed to supply a double-strength treatment of the discovery on a guaranteed trial basis to everyone in need of such a preparation. If you wish to test the compound under a money-back guarantee, write in strict confidence to the Melton Laboratories, 3043 Melton Building, Kansas City, Mo., for a two-dollar treatment of korex compound, mailed in a plain, sealed wrapper. You may enclose two dollars, or simply send your name, without money, and pay two dollars and postage on delivery, as you prefer. In either case, however, if you report within ten days that you are not satisfied, the laboratories will refund the purchase price upon request. These laboratories are nationally known and thoroughly reliable, so nobody need hesitate about accepting their guaranteed offer.

We have in the last four years strayed away from the foundations on which we erected this great nation. We are going to be in turmoil and distress until we get back to them.

A TEST OF ITALY, TOO

The League of Nations was organized to handle just such bucking bronchos as Mussolini. The premier of Italy tells the world that if the League interferes in the little personal affair with Greece Italy will withdraw its membership. He is quoted as saying that the covenant does not apply to such cases as the Janina dispute, on the ground that it speaks only of a situation where there is "danger of war." With a flourish of the hand, Mussolini says there is no danger of war, that it is simply a question of the execution of justice, with Italy as the executioner. In other words, Greece is to have nothing to say about the amends she makes. She is to accept all of the demands made upon her no matter how humiliating and degrading they may be. It is on this hypothesis that Mussolini reaches the conclusion that there is no danger of war and the League has no right to interfere.

This is justice with a vengeance. It leaves out of consideration altogether questions as to the identity of the assassins, as to whether they were Greeks or Albanians, and as to what the motives were back of the crime, as well as other controversial matters. If Italy is left to deal with Greece in this fashion, there can be but one logical outcome of the issue and that is war. No nation, no matter how weak and ill-prepared for hostilities, could afford to be trampled on and spat upon without offering resistance. Moreover, the haste and violence with which Mussolini laid hands on Greek territory and occupied the island of Corfu was a provocative act that might reasonably be held to constitute a cause of war.

We think it is a sinister ambition of Italy that is at work in this case rather than her honor. Her attitude displays all the earmarks of aggression. There is nothing in the controversy, or in the crime of which Italy complains, that should not make it a subject for League adjudication. There is nothing in Greece's attitude which in the slightest manner challenges Italy's full right to satisfaction or that indicates a desire to evade her responsibilities. For these reasons the form and extent of satisfaction to which Italy is entitled is a proper subject for arbitration. The demands laid upon Greece are so nearly impossible of fulfillment as to be incompatible with her sovereignty. They raise a difference between the two nations that can hardly be reconciled without injustice or without war to prevent injustice.

It is to meet such an emergency that the League of Nations was created. It would be subversive of the League itself to deny its right to jurisdiction. This seems to be, nevertheless, the position that Mussolini takes. Rather than permit the League to adjust the issue with Greece on a basis of justice and fairness he threatens to withdraw from the League. Mussolini would not dare to do it if England and France made suitably strong representations to him on his duties under Italian membership in the League. He would not do it if the United States were in the League. He is attempting to do it only because he believes European jealousies and discord, particularly the differences which momentarily separate England and France, will permit him to get away with defiance of the League and with the man-handling of Greece. The present incident is not only a test of the League of Nations, but it is a test of the fitness of the Italian nation to be a member of such an organization.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

WARTS

No day seems quite perfect without at least one letter from some one who has an infallible and, of course, more or less mysterious remedy for warts. The more mysterious the better. From the small boy who believes warts come from handling toads, to the queer old "vark doctor" who (for two bits) gives the credulous victim an incantation or charm warranted to effect their disappearance, all the vagaries are given free reign in coping with this familiar condition. It generally rains now and then, and sometimes a rainmaker is fortunate enough to operate just before a shower. Likewise warts come and go without rhyme or reason; hence a thousand remedies acquire a potency which is unfailing—until somebody tries them.

Warts may be produced by inoculation into the skin of fragments of warts from another person, but no specific germ has been determined, though a bacillus isolated from warts produces similar lesions on the skin of rabbits. Probably the greater frequency of warts on the hands of children is explained by infection; the particularly susceptibility of little boys with dirty hands or little boys of the dirty hands age, is a suspicious circumstance. Warts rarely appear on the soles, where they cause much annoyance and if not carefully examined are likely to be mistaken for corns; these plantar warts further suggest an infectious origin, clean feet being much less popular than dirty ones. The peculiar rough surrounded perhaps by hardened or horny epidermis like that of a corn, distinguishes warts from corns generally.

"Seed warts"—which so many folk say they have—are a deep dark mystery to me, unless that is a favorite name for any and all warts.

A peculiar flat, smooth, glistening wart or a number of them commonly occur on the face in children coming and going without apparent cause of explanation.

Remembering that warts have a way of coming and going without just cause or provocation, one good treatment for crops of warts or single warts on the hands is painting the skin with tincture of iodine, one coat every four or five days for four or five weeks.

An X-ray treatment or two will clear warts from the skin of the face or elsewhere.

Fulguration—sprinkling with high frequency current—is a good method of causing the disappearance of one or two warts.

Freezing with solidified carbon dioxide is another valuable method in the hands only of a competent physician.

The daily application to the wart known and not the surrounding skin of the well known corn remedy—30 grains of salicylic acid dissolved in half an ounce of flexible collodion—is quite as effective for warts as it is for corns.

Single warts on the face should be removed only by the surgeon, never treated by the amateur.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

We're Overstocked With Stamps

I am beginning to think that all inquiries are not answered by you, as I have written twice before. I am enclosing a stamp for reply by return mail.—Mrs. C. L.

Answer—I endeavor to answer all properly signed letters pertaining to health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis nor to treatment, if a stamped envelope bearing the correspondent's address is enclosed. Do not send stamps loose, but only a stamped self-addressed envelope. Do not neglect to sign your letter if you expect an answer; no attention can be given letters without proper signature.

Pop Corn

How many cups of unpopped corn contains 100 calories?—W. B. A.

Answer—A cupful is a variable quantity, but pop corn has the same fuel or caloric value as oats and about twice the value of beefsteak. A pound of popcorn yields about 1,900 calories; no food value is lost in the popping. Rather less than an ounce (perhaps one-sixth of a cupful) would give 100 calories; that amount popped would fill the ordinary sack the popcorn man sells for a nickel. Then add the dash of butter or oleo—perhaps another 10, or 20 calories. Excellent food, fine for the teeth and a good natural stimulus to the digestive process in the intestines.

After listening to all the many requests for new state highways in this county, Senator Staudenmayer, who conducted the hearing in the courthouse last week, concluded: "It will be quite a task to please you all. I'm afraid the only way for you to get all the roads you want (there were ten of them) is to vote the Socialist ticket."

New Way of Catching Fish

I went fishing in the Wolf river about a week ago, took a can of nice worms and started to fish for black bass. Not getting any bites, I thought I would pull up my line which seemed to pull heavy. The worm is all that was on the hook. But he had grown in size, so I took him off and squeezed him, and out came a 4-pound black bass. This story is true, for I have a quart of angle worm oil made from the worm.

Librarian Finds
Average Reader
Is Quite Fickle

(From The New York Sun.)

"Ah," exclaimed a clerk in a branch library, glancing down a row of books, "our friend Napoleon is getting his nose worn off again."

"What's that?" inquired a patron.

"He often does that," was the reply.

"You see, there are four volumes which testify to the life of that stalwart soldier, but the first volume is the shabbiest of the lot. Now take a look at these other sets and see if they are not in the same condition."

"Yes, sir, look here. There's the diary of old Mr. Pepys. Volume I is beginning to get earmarked. Volumes II isn't quite so bad. Volume III looks as though it hadn't been opened."

"Meaning?"

"Human nature," said the librarian. "Is fickle. The public develops a reading spree for the little while. Good intentions spring up—intentions to read some real good literature. The public comes in with a determined look on its face and asks for 'good books.' We always have a list and we suggest a few. The public goes over the shelves to investigate and still with that do-and-dare spirit flashing in its public eye suddenly comes upon the Life of Napoleon."

"So THEY START TO READ?"

"Ah, the public long has intended to read up on this man. It remembers he always folded his arms and gazed off into the sunset, apparently afraid to move around very much for fear of tearing his tight breeches, but it never really read about him. So the public, still with that determined air, takes down volume I and prepares to go right through his whole career, first and second phases of Waterloo, return from some place, and everything."

"It gets the volume charged up to it and retires. But we know what's going to happen. The book will be kept out three weeks, so there will be a week's fine on it and then little brother will bring it in some day and pay the fine and volume I will go back on the shelf until next time."

"The path to Kingdom Come and way stations, you know, is paved with good intentions. That's the way they blow up here in the library."

"Yes, sir, the public intends to settle right down and read 'right through the whole set, but it rarely gets beyond the first volume, especially if the first is bulky. Sometimes the second volume is taken out, but hardly ever the third."

BUT THEY DON'T QUIT

"There's Dr. Elliot's shelf, for instance. Nearly everyone, at some time or other, has determined with a steadfast resolution to read right through the whole 60 inches of it. But look at the books. Volume I shows the effects of wear. Volume II looks a little better. Volume III hardly has been scratched and when you get to the tallenders, I suppose that some of the pages haven't even been cut."

"With dictionaries and encyclopedias it is different. No one ever starts to read those through from the beginning and the Was-Z volume gets as much use as the A-Bol. Consequently those books fall to pieces like the one horse shay—all at once."

"But the 'masterpieces,' the 'works,' and the 'lives,' usually start to break up at the beginning. Volume I, where it says, 'He was born in a small town in umpty-umph, the son of poor but respectable parents,' is the one that gets the wear. The public must know a lot of things about the birth of great men but it hardly ever learns that they die—unless, of course, the author thinks to put that into the introduction."

ADJUSTS ALIENS TO NEW LAND

Cleveland, O. — Mrs. Flora Kowan, who is 20 and doesn't look even that, has helped possibly 60,000 persons here in the past three years become adjusted in a new land.

She is an interpreter and general assistant at the Americanization Council and Citizens' Bureau, a Community Fund organization. With but a high school education to start with, she now speaks Spanish, German, Italian and Hebrew fluently besides her native English, and furthermore knows enough French to "get by."

MRS. KOWAN

Spanish she learned in school. The others she grew to know from conversing with the hundreds of persons of all types who swarmed into the Citizens' Bureau daily for aid. They are the perplexed. Everything is so new. They are suspicious of everything and everyone. And young Mrs. Kowan, listens sympathetically and gives their valuable advice.

"The work is fascinating," she says.

"Mother Goose"
Lived In Boston

(From Kansas City Star.)

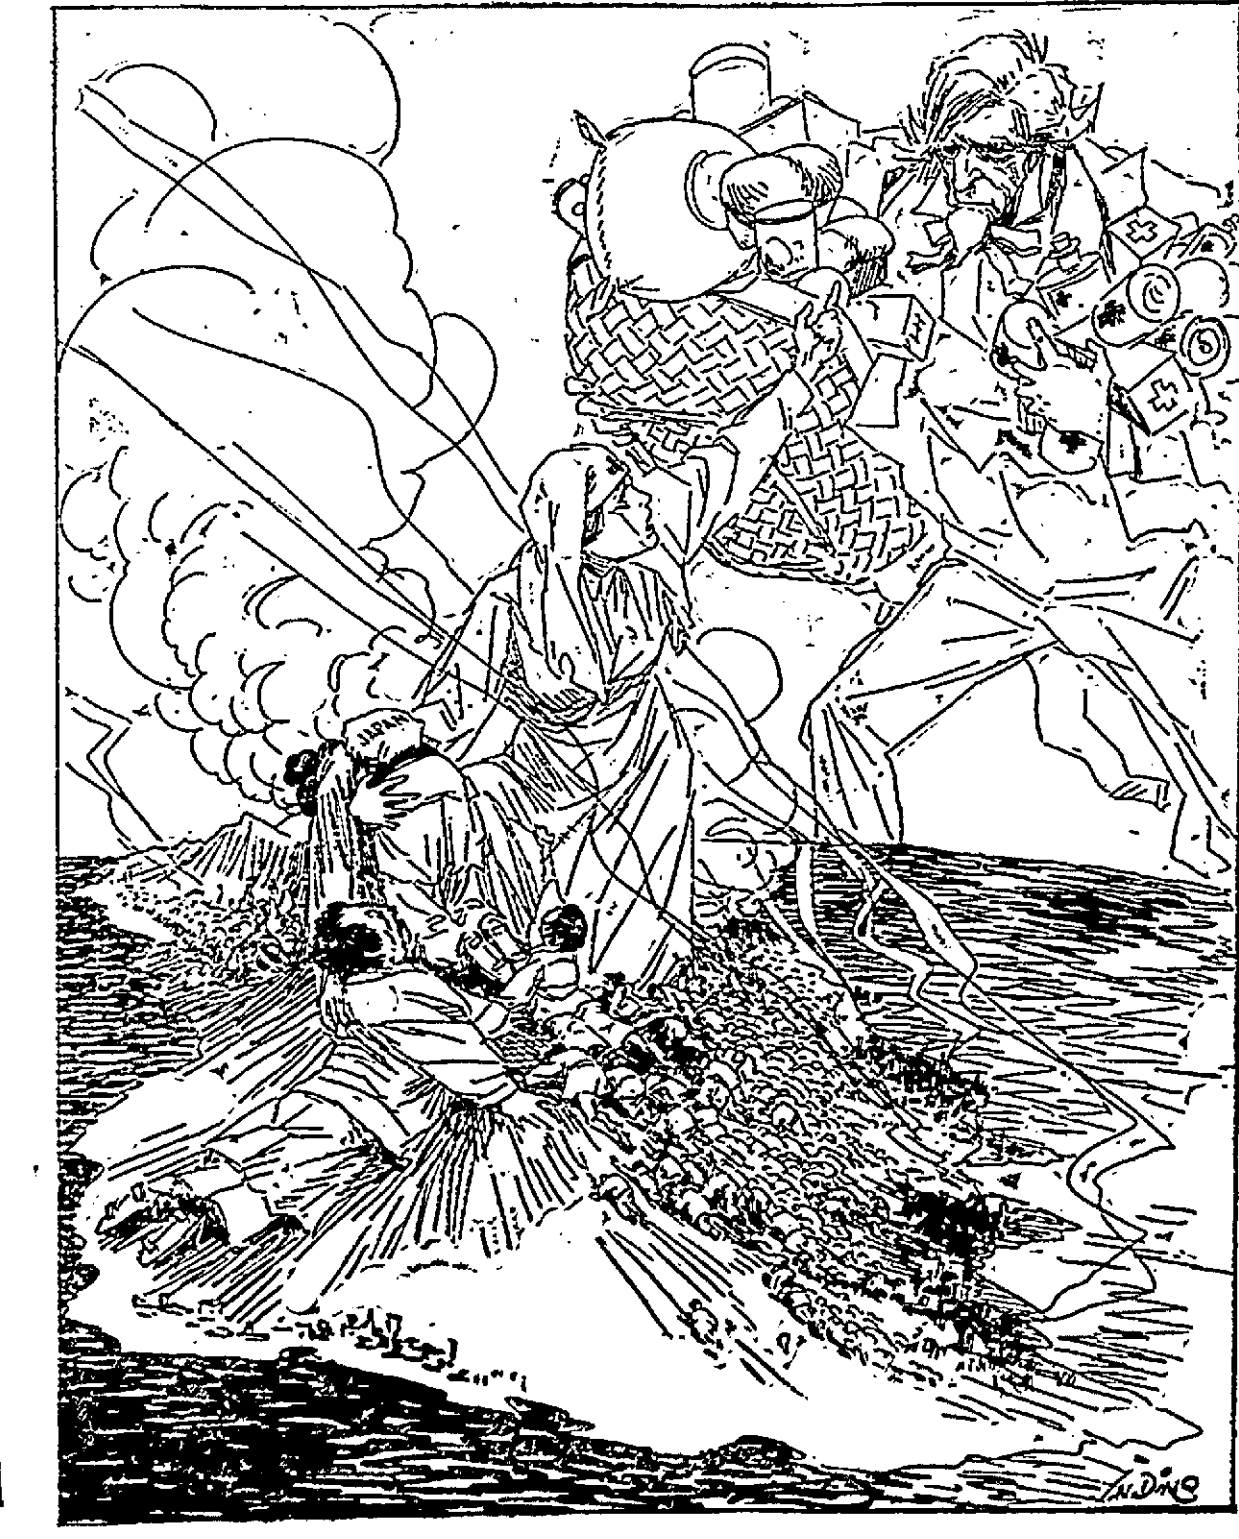

In the record of marriages in the city registrar's office in Boston may be found this entry:

Thomas Fleet—Elizabeth Goose. Rev. Dr. Cotton Mather Presby June 8, 1715.

This Elizabeth Goose was the eldest daughter of Elizabeth Foster, who July 5, 1692, married into a colonial family originally known as Vertigoose, later as Vergoose and finally shortened to Goose. Thomas Fleet was an English printer who had come to Boston in 1712 and started a printing house on Pudding lane.

In 1719 there appeared from the Fleet press a small volume entitled "Songs for the Nursery or Mother Goose's Melodious Lullabies, price, 2 coppers." So far as is known, this is the earliest printed edition of the Mother Goose rhymes and no copy of the pamphlet now exists. The verses are supposed to have been recited to the Fleet children by "Mother" or Grandmother Goose, the mother-in-law of Thomas Fleet, who collected the strange collection of rhymes and printed them, feeling that they would have a ready sale.

Although corroborative evidence is lacking, it is generally admitted that Fleet's mother-in-law was the original "Mother Goose," at least in the English language, and it is more than likely that she imported her verses from the other side of the Atlantic, where many of them have been traced back into folklores as ancient as that of the Latin Reine Pedauque, the queen with the goosefoot. Teutonic mythology also supplies a clue in the Freia, the goddess of motherhood. But can hardly be doubted that, though the verses themselves antedate the colonial history of America, the "Mother Goose" verses as we know them today owe their place in printed literature to Thomas Fleet and his mother-in-law.

Q. Are Sapphires and rubies derived from aluminum? L. H. A.

A. They are corundum, which is aluminum oxide the hardest mineral except the diamond. It is called according to its color, sapphire (blue), true or Oriental, ruby (red), Oriental amethyst (purple), Oriental emerald (green), Oriental topaz (yellow), white sapphire (colorless). Adamantine spar is smoky brown, sometimes translucent. Emery is very dark-colored and contains magnetite.

Q. What makes the kettle sing? C. L. J.

A. When the water in the kettle boils, the kettle is filled with steam which attempts to escape. The spout is a comparatively small opening, and the pressure of the steam becomes great enough to cause the singing or whistling sound as it rushes through it.

Q. How is cotton mercerized? A. M. P.

A. The cotton is treated with a solution of caustic alkali, and then stretched while being washed with hot water. The process which gives the fiber or fabrics a brilliant luster, was introduced by John Mercer, an English calico printer, in 1844.

MORE FILTERS ARE NEEDED TO SERVE CITY WITH WATER

Water Commission Asks Assistance Of Council To Enlarge Plant

A request for assistance in enlarging the capacity of the filtration plant of Appleton water department was made to the common council by J. J. Plank, chairman of the water commission Wednesday evening. Mr. Plank explained that the demand for water is growing so rapidly that it is absolutely necessary to enlarge the filter capacity by next summer.

He proposes an extension of the present filtration plant large enough to hold four more filters, one or two of which will be built during the coming winter and summer. The other two filters can be built at a later period. The plan also includes rebuilding of the present filters which are showing signs of wear. The estimated cost of building the addition to the plant, installing four new filters and rebuilding the old one is $65,000. The work contemplated for the immediate future will cost about $25,000.

USE SURPLUS FUND

Mr. Plank explained that the water department soon will have a surplus of $15,000 above its depreciation reserve and it requests permission of the council to use this money for the work at the filtration plant. The money, however, is not sufficient to pay for the work and he asked the council to appropriate the additional money that will be needed.

The verbal request is to be put in writing and it is probable that definite action will be taken at the next meeting. In the meantime the commission will prepare plans and specifications for the work.

Mr. Plank explained that rebuilding of the old filters will be paid by the water commission out of its depreciation reserve but the new filters must be considered as capital investment.

PAYMENTS TO CITY

In his address to the council Mr. Plank showed by charts that the water department is returning to the city at least as much money as the city pays to the department. He showed that in 1922 the total payment of the city to the water department for service was $39,238.93 and the total return of the water department to the city was $48,302.50, or $9,063.52 more than the city paid to the department.

The city of Appleton in 1922 paid $34,000 for hydrant rental, $770.72 for street sprinkling water, $4,513.71 for water used by schools, teachers, municipal buildings and other municipal purposes.

Returns to the city include $18,405 as interest on water department bonds, $15,518 taxes, $480 for rent of offices in the city hall, $14,378.96 as dividend.

So far this year the water department has paid the city $6,512.37 more than the city has paid the water department, Mr. Plank showed.

While the money that is paid as interest on bonds does not go to the city but to the bondholders, Mr. Plank explained that if the water commission did not pay that interest out of its earnings the city would be obliged to pay it out of its general fund. If the water department did not pay the interest it would be able to increase its dividend by the sum of the interest, it was explained.

Mr. Plank also showed that the city is not making a gift to the water department when it buys new equipment for the plant or installs water mains. This money is regarded as capital investment on which the department pays 5 per cent interest and increases the value of the plant by the amount of the investment.

LEGION GRIDDERS BEGIN PRACTICE MONDAY EVENING

Large Number Of Candidates Expected To Seek Berths On Football Squad

Kaukauna—The American legion football squad starts practice next Monday evening at the ball park. All Kaukauna young men who are interested in the pickin game are requested to meet at the grounds to begin training for the coming season. The first night will be merely a get-together affair and light workouts will be held for the first few nights. After the candidates become accustomed to the grind, practice will be held four nights a week.

Arrangements have been made with J. O. Pessen, superintendent of the city utility department, to furnish flood lights so that the squads can be kept until after dark. There is a host of material for a team this year and it is probable that two teams will be formed. W. F. Ashe will take charge of the squad again.

No games have been booked. The policy of the legion has been to play all its games at home but it is probable that a few battles will be put on in other cities. The kind of team which is developed here every year outclasses anything in this section of the state. It is therefore necessary to negotiate far and wide for an eleven capable of putting up a good battle, a fact which causes greater expense. The support of the football public is being solicited and it is expected that football will be patronized this year as well as baseball is during the summer.

The Kaukauna legion is strictly amateur. Not one of the players receives compensation for his services. The team is formed merely for the sport and to furnish entertainment for people in the city.

MAY TRY ANOTHER PAGEANT NEXT YEAR

Kaukauna—The advisability of putting on another pageant next year was discussed at the weekly meeting of Kaukauna Rotary club following its Wednesday noon luncheon in Hotel Kaukauna.

The opinions of members were given merely to determine the general desire. Provision was made for the appointment of a committee by W. F. Ashe, president, which will secure the decision of the people of Kaukauna. In spite of rain and weather the celebration last week was successful beyond expectations and it is believed that another attempt in a year will be even more successful.

HOLLANDTOWN PLANNING ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL

Kaukauna—A committee of ladies from the Hollandtown Catholic church visited the city Wednesday and announced that plans are under way for the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the village in October. Another plan is to hold the event only on one Sunday and make an attempt to have all old residents and friends visit the village. Dinner and supper will be served. A meeting of committee is scheduled for Friday or Sunday to make more detailed arrangements.

GRID PRACTICE IS STARTED BEFORE SCHOOL IS OPENED

New High School Athletic Director Distributes Suits To Candidates

Kaukauna—The season of football is at hand. Although baseball still occupies the limelight, interest in the football game is becoming aroused and one hears everywhere conversation in that direction. Actual practice of high school football candidates got under way Tuesday afternoon when a small squad responded to the first call for recruits. Mr. Sullivan, new athletic director, was in charge, giving the boys the rudiments of training.

Although school does not begin until Monday, Sept. 17, the director deemed it advisable to begin football work as soon as possible, as the first game is to be played Saturday, Sept. 29 at Fond du Lac. Mr. Sullivan expects to have a tentative team picked by the time school starts.

All high school boys who are interested are to meet every day at the city auditorium where they will receive suits. Workouts will be held either on municipal playgrounds or at the ball park, according to the convenience of those concerned. Mr. Sullivan also announced that he will hold workouts at any other time which suits the convenience of the candidates.

SEWERS UNABLE TO CARRY OFF WATER

Kaukauna—Several minutes heavy downpour of rain early Wednesday afternoon flooded the streets when the water came so fast that the sewers were unable to carry the load. Water rose in the gutters along the streets until in many places it nearly ran over the sidewalks. The sewers did their work, however, when the fall rains came in a few minutes the streets were cleared again. There was little damage throughout the city. The rushing water dug a small ditch along the curb on Quinney ave where it joins with Dodge-st.

NEW PHONE DIRECTORIES BY MIDDLE OF OCTOBER

Is a Bad Back Crippling You?

IT'S hard to do one's work when every day brings morning lameness, throbbing, backache, and a dull, tired feeling. If you suffer thus, why not find out the cause? Likely it's your kidneys. Headaches, dizziness, and bladder irregularities may give further proof that your kidneys need help. Don't risk neglect! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have been helped by Doan's. They should help you. Ask your neighbor.

A Case in Appleton
Chas. Kiltner, 1935 Parkhurst St. says: "I had a very lame back and pains across my loins. It hurt me to stoop over or lift anything. Mornings I was very stiff and lame and my kidneys didn't act regularly. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used two boxes. They cured me of the trouble."

RASEY POINTS TO MERITORIOUS WORK OF FATHER'S CLUB

Cooperation Of Parents For Control Of Children Asked
By Principal

In a letter addressed to parents of high school students, acquainting them with the program that has been arranged to give students a first-class educational opportunity in spite of the crowded conditions, Lee C. Rasey, on behalf of the board of directors of the Fathers association, calls attention to the benefits to be derived from this association.

The organization, which was formed last year, made a promising start and provided a means of bringing fathers of high school pupils together in the joint solution of high school problems. The association membership is open to any men in Appleton or surrounding community; its meetings are usually attended by men only, although mothers are sometimes invited to attend and take part in the discussions.

ASK COOPERATION
The suggestions that the association adopted last year for the solution of certain problems for parents were mailed, and the parents were asked to cooperate with other parents toward securing uniform conditions.

Among the recommendations are that school parties close before 10:30; that boys be kept away from public poolrooms and bowling alleys; that borrowing be discouraged; that over-dress and unbecoming adornment be avoided by pupils; that students spend 45 to 30 minutes each day at study in the home; that one good movie a week be considered sufficient for students; that driving of automobiles by young people to school be discouraged.

ISSUE 94 BUILDING PERMITS IN AUGUST

More Individual Permits Than In July But Cost Is Less

Although more building permits were issued from the city engineer and building inspector's office last month than in July and June, the value of construction projects was somewhat less than in the two preceding months.

In August the inspector granted 94 permits, as compared with 86 in July, 92 in June, 157 in May, 131 in April and 9 in March. The cost estimates of construction last month totaled $113,898, as against $162,540 in July and $121,540 in June. There were no new projects of large proportions. Most of the permits, 41, were for the construction of private garages. There were 28 permits or new homes, which is two more than the number of new homes in July, and five more than the number in June.

New homes authorized from March 20 to Aug. 31 number 151. It is estimated that about ten new homes were started last spring before the zoning ordinance went into effect. The total number of garage permits issued is 168. Miscellaneous permits number 165, which gives a general total of 365 permits. Value of construction authorized from March 20 to Aug. 31 amounts to $1,400,893. The biggest construction month was May when $715,361 worth of work was certified.

That students spend at least the first 45 to 30 minutes each day at study in the home; that they be encouraged to earn their own spending money or else be put on an allowance basis of a few dollars a month.

HOPE TO FINISH 'Y' UNIT NOV. 1

Completion of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory addition by Nov. 1 is the aim of George F. Werner, general secretary. In order that the demand for rooms may be met and the additional social rooms may be utilized by the boys division.

Plasterers began their work Wednesday. Interior finishing and decorating will follow as soon as possible and the new unit then will be opened for use.

Numbers of the dormitory dwellers are "doubling up" with others temporarily so they will be assured of rooms when the addition is ready. It is expected that every room will be engaged before the construction is completed.

Ouch! That's Neuritis

Morning, noon or night that sharp piercing pain smites you in the shoulder, arm or nape of the neck. Sometimes it is felt in the thigh or leg, while in other cases it wanders over the entire body, giving knife-like thrusts here and there. Perhaps you think the trouble is rheumatism or sciatica, and treat it as such, hence the reason why you get no lasting relief.

Eopa Neuritis Tablets are compounded especially for the treatment of neuritis in all its forms. They help to remove inflammation and restore the diseased nerves to sound condition.

Begin taking Eopa Neuritis Tablets today and watch your pains fade away. Perfectly harmless, but wonderfully effective.

WISCONSIN LEADS ALL DAIRY STATES

20.6 Per Cent Of Nation's Dairy
Production Comes From
This State

Wisconsin leads all states in the value of its butter, cheese and condensed milk output, the department of commerce has announced. The value of the Badger state product is 20.6 per cent of the country's total.

Minnesota ranked second with 9.4 per cent of the country's total; New York third with 8.5; Michigan fourth with 6.3, and California fifth, only a few thousand dollars behind Michigan. Iowa, Ohio, Illinois, Nebraska and Pennsylvania came next in order. The immensity of Wisconsin's butter, cheese and condensed milk industry can be best understood by figures of the department of commerce showing that there are 2,452 establishments manufacturing butter, cheese and condensed milk products in the Badger state. In Minnesota the second state, there are 870 such plants. The value of the Wisconsin product is $152,179,471 of the nation's total of $738,440,107 and $69,390,825 for Minnesota, the second state.

The amount added to the raw material by manufacture in Wisconsin is $24,002,301. The number of wage earners in the butter, cheese and condensed milk industry is 5,239 or 16.6 per cent of the 31,466 employees in the nation. In the number of employees engaged in the industry New York ranked second, Ohio third, Michigan, fourth and Minnesota fifth.

The yearly value and output of Wisconsin butter, cheese and condensed milk products are segregated as follows:

Butter, 133,125,000 pounds, valued at $52,062,098; cheese, 271,746,274 pounds valued at $47,722,694; condensed milk, sweetened, 37,292,635 pounds, valued at $4,457,780; condensed milk, unsweetened, 39,411,366 pounds, valued at $4,162,414; evaporated milk, 442,757,990 pounds, valued at $35,674,067; powdered milk, 5,677,412 pounds, valued at $377,427; casein dried, 478,536 pounds, valued at $23,193.

Yearly salaries to persons employed in the butter, cheese and condensed milk industry in Wisconsin total $2,040,584, and wages amount to $6,426,170.

City Dumping Ground Paid Well For Boys

From 75 cents to $1 a day was frequently made this summer by boys who kept a close watch for pasteboard cartons and old paper at the city dumping grounds. Frequently drays unloaded cartons which the boys tore up and sold to paper collectors who made regular trips to the grounds. The boys made also a practice of collecting old bottles which they found by the dozens.

ON THE SCREEN

"A MAN OF ACTION"

Thomas H. Ince's mystery comedy, "A Man of Action," with Douglas MacLean in the role of a youth with more money than ambition who is black-jacked into a twenty-four-hour career of crime is the best comedy in which Douglas MacLean has appeared since "The Hotentot."

The scenes of "A Man of Action" are laid in San Francisco, both among the palatial homes of Nob Hill and in the dens along Pacific street and the Barbary Coast. The story was filmed by Director James Horne both in San Francisco and Los Angeles from the original story by Bradley King.

There is plenty of comedy throughout the picture which has three unique screen "creations" in "Hoppy," the shell-shocked veteran of a Central American revolution; "Erisko Rose," who wears second-hand clothes, and "The Deacon," who is an expert on panels, trick doors, traps, collapsible staircases and miscellaneous exits and this-way-outs.

"A Man of Action" has been described as an "action picture" and certainly it is a movie that moves. There's a little love, a plot that can't be guessed until the end, plenty of laughs and a liberal measure of melodrama which makes the picture quite as fascinating as was "Officer 666."

The story centers around a diamond robbery. The owner of the jewels, a role played by Douglas MacLean, is mistaken for The Chicago Kid, a famous crook, and is blackjacked and taken to his own home where for twenty-four speedy and funny hours he becomes the master mind of a gang of crooks.

Featured in the excellent cast with MacLean are Marjorie de la Motte, Raymond Hatton, Arthur Stewart Hull, Wade Boteler, Arthur Millet, Kingsley Benedict, William Courtwright and Katherine Lewis.

COUNCIL KILLS MAYOR'S VETO OF CAR MARKING

Veto Message Says Police Department Car Should Be Identified

and other departments of the city, account of official business, be lettered "DEPARTMENT OF POLICE," "CITY OF APPLETON," thereby designating ownership of, and its proper use and place, all of which meets with approval and that of the public in general, as well.

"Whereas, at a regular meeting of the Common Council, held on August 15th, 1923, at the council chambers of the city of Appleton, Wis., the lettering of aforesaid touring car, which is the property of the city of Appleton, Wis., was rescinded, and in lieu thereof the letters "A. P. D." were ordered to be placed on the two front doors, thereby destroying the identity of the city's property and removing the very thing that the city and its taxpayers have a right to its proper identification.

"Previous to the advent of motor vehicles, the vehicle owned by the city, and in use by the Police Department and other departments, were properly lettered whereby its property could be properly identified, other cities, as well as firms and corporations using motor and other vehicles have same lettered for proper identification.

"For the foregoing, and other reasons, I deem it to be to the best interests of the city of Appleton, and its taxpayers, that the action of the Common Council taken at its meeting, held August 1st, 1923, stand, and that the action taken at its meeting, held August 15th, 1923, be rescinded, and in lieu thereof, placing the letters "A. P. D." as outlined above."

"Therefore, by virtue of authority vested in me, I hereby veto the action of the Common Council in rescinding the lettering of said car (as ordered August 1st, 1923) and in lieu thereof, placing the letters "A. P. D." as outlined above."

FAILED TO HEED PROTESTS
A sharp discussion followed the reading of the formal veto, which was filed with the city clerk on Aug. 23. The mayor said that Chief of Police George T. Prim had used the police car against the mayor's protests for purposes not connected with the police department but Chief Prim countered with the declaration that the car is used only on official business connected with police work or for legitimate city purposes.

The present controversy had its start at the last meeting in July when there was a discussion of lettering the police car so that it could be easily identified. At the Aug. 1 meeting the council ordered the car lettered "Department of Police, City of Appleton." The lettering was to be done after repairs had been made on the car which was damaged in an accident. The next meeting, on Aug. 15, saw a change in the council. On the recommendation of the police and license committee that the action of Aug. 1 be rescinded there was an affirmative vote of 9 to 2 and on the resolution to print the letters "A. P. D." on the front doors of the car the vote was unanimous. The Mayor then vetoed the resolution and Wednesday evening the council refused to sustain the veto and the car bears the "A. P. D." lettering.

LEGION TO INSPECT WERNER LAKE LAND

Executive Committee Will Investigate Possibilities Of Shawano Camp

Executive committee members of Oney Johnston post of the American legion will be guests of Judge Edgar V. Werner of Outagamie county at his cottage at Shawano lake Friday afternoon.

The object of the trip will be to inspect a tract of land which the judge wants to convert into a camp for boy scouts, girl scouts and other juvenile organizations.

Judge Werner believes the American legion posts of this locality could establish this camp at the lake and arrange for its maintenance. He believes the project will be a plan of Americanization which the legion best can carry out.

The tract owned by the judge contains about 40 acres and is within a few steps of Shawano lake. It is ideally situated for a camp and will be donated for that purpose if the means can be found for erecting the buildings and maintaining the grounds.

$50 In Cash Offered For Essays On Appleton As Valley Style Center

Annual Fall Style Week, From Sept. 12 To 15, To Be Greatest Fashion Event In Northern Wisconsin

Appleton's Fall Style week, from Sept. 12 to 15 will offer the shoppers of this territory an opportunity of viewing the most dazzling display of fashion ever attempted in the Fox river valley, and also will give them an opportunity of earning $50 in cash prizes for the best essays or stories describing Appleton as a style center as indicated by the window displays during Fall Style week. Twelve cash prizes, ranging from $15 to $1 will be given for the best stories of not more than 200 words containing 100 words which will be found in the display windows. The stories are to be submitted to the Style Week Editor of the Post-Crescent. The contest opens Wednesday night and closes at noon on Saturday, Sept. 15. Prize winners will be announced the following Monday.

BIGGEST IN HISTORY
Style Week this year will be the most stupendous fashion event in the history of northern Wisconsin. Never before have the merchants made such preparations for the annual display. About 50 merchants, selling almost every article of commerce, will cooperate. The formal opening is on Wednesday and the period closes Saturday night.

Differing from the usual plan, there will be no "open house" during the week. Efforts will be concentrated on window displays and they promise to attract thousands of people from all over this territory.

The story contest is just one of the numerous features of the week. The Style pageant in Lawrence Memorial chapel on Sept. 12, 13 and 14 and the award of ribbon prizes to the merchants who have the most attractive displays are events which alone are sufficient to excite the interest of the shopping public of the valley.

Rules for the story contest here simple but they involve visits to the windows of every merchant cooperating in style week. A group of words that must be used in the stories to make them eligible for the prizes will be placed in every window and there will be 100 words in all. All of the 100 words must be used in the story which should be entitled "Appleton as a Style Center." The subject matter should be descriptive of Appleton as the style center as indicated by the window displays. The subject is interesting and no doubt a large number of essays will be contributed. Be sure to address them to Style Week Editor and have them in his hands before 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, Sept. 15. No stories received after that hour will be considered. Remember that the complete story must not contain more than 200 words and all of the 100 words in the display windows must be employed.

VOTE ON DISPLAYS
Another condition connected with the contest is that contestants must fill out the contest entrance blanks which will be printed in The Post-Crescent beginning Wednesday. This blank form contains spaces for writing in the contestants' vote on what he considers to be the best window displays. There will be a space for what he considers to be the very best display of the week and other spaces

Average Family In Appleton Pays $148 To Pay Cost Of City

Per Capita Cost Of Operating City Of Appleton Is About Average For All Cities Of Its Class

It is commonly understood among civilized people that no country can endure without organized government. What is true of the nation as a whole can be said of an individual municipality. It may not need an army to protect itself against foreign aggression, but it has instead a police force to guard against thieves, robbers and whatever else is a menace to life and property.

Allies of the police department are all the other departments of municipal administration, the fire, health, legal, educational, street, water, charity and various other departments, each contributing their part toward making a city a desirable place in which to live.

To have organized government, a good deal of money is required, and the more improvements the inhabitants of a city demand, the more they are called upon to reach into their pockets in order to carry out their program. In a democratic government such as is in force in American cities, the people can have practically anything they want and can abolish practically anything they please. There is nothing that the city can have without paying for it, and there is theoretically nothing in city government that the city needs to pay for if it does not want it.

GUIDED BY PUBLIC
When the electors of a city fail to exercise their prerogative, it follows that their representatives in office are left largely to administer the government in the manner they think the people would have them do. Public officials usually are governed by public sentiment.

Public sentiment also influences the distribution of funds. As long as residents want street improvements in front of their houses, and as long as they want the best standards of education for their children, schools and streets will continue to occupy first place in the budget of any city government, and toll will be required from the taxpayers to pay for them.

Although taxpayers notice most susceptible the burden of the expense of government, the burden also falls upon the shoulders of non-taxpayers, although in an indirect way. The tax on a rented residence is in the last analysis paid by the occupant, and the tax on merchants' stock, manufacturers' products, etc., is borne by the consumers.

AVERAGE COST HERE
Government operation in Appleton costs about the average of cities of 20,000 population, for according to statistics published by the National Budget committee, the average cost to cities of the 20,000 class is about $44.32 per capita, while the per capita cost in Appleton is $43.71.

The city's revenue is derived from various sources. There is the general property tax, income tax, school tax, interest on bank deposits and loans, interest on its investment in the waterworks plant, tax on public service corporations, city department earnings and permits and licenses. The state school apportionment received by the city is not considered in this article, but special

NOV. 11 TO 18 WILL BE FATHER AND SON WEEK

National Father and Son Week will be observed this year between the dates of Nov. 11 and 18, according to a notice received by the Appleton Y. M. C. A. office. The week, which is observed quite generally in the United States and Canada, is set aside to inspire the boys and their "dads" to a closer companionship and fellowship. Last year a big "Father and Son" banquet was held at the Y. M. C. A. No plans have as yet been formulated for observance this year.

ance exacted the next greatest toll. The per capita cost was $11.32 and covers the expense of opening streets, putting in sewers, street repairs, dusting, cleaning, oiling, lighting, etc. A sum of $100,000 was put aside for bridges, which means a per capita cost of $4.72.

The sum of $355 per capita was used for fire protection, which includes fire department operation and equipment, hydrant rental, signal system, etc. The police force cost each individual $1.63.

Debits and rebates were paid which cost the individual $1.75. Parks, playgrounds, band concerts, etc. cost everybody $1.44. New investment in mains and waterworks amounted to $1.31 per capita. The library received 56 cents, the poor department 35 cents, the health department 33 cents, the engineering department 30 cents and the legal department 26 cents. For general city administration, including salaries of the mayor and aldermen, and other officers, election expenses and operation of public buildings, the per capita cost was $1.45.

With four in a family, the cost based on the figures quoted for that family would be $174.64 for the operation of city government.

12 PER CENT OF INCOME
If the cost of government were averaged among wage earners instead of being computed on a per capita basis, the result would be an annual levy of about $145 on every worker, from baker to banker. On the basis of average earnings of $1,200 a year, the city would exact from all workers about 12 per cent of all they earn.

Measured in terms of labor, the worker contributes about 44 days of every year to the city government. In addition to the $43.71 per capita for city government, the average county exacts about $6.91, the average state about $9.46 and the federal government requires toll of $35.47, according to government statistics. The total cost for all government for each man, woman and child is $95.55.

The largest item of the per capita cost is education. For the operation of the high school, vocational school, ward schools, and the salaries of the school superintendent, trustee officer and secretary of the school board, as well as for the school survey undertaken last year, the cost was $14.68 to every man, woman and child. Street improvement and maintenance

10TH ANNIVERSARY OF Y. M. C. A. OPENS ON MONDAY, SEPT. 24

"Y" Staff Making Preliminary Arrangements To Obtain 1,500 Members

Shaping of the organization for the 1923 membership campaign has been begun by the Y. M. C. A. The campaign is to open with a tenth anniversary banquet Monday evening, Sept. 24, and will continue through Thursday, Sept. 27. The goal will be the largest ever attempted and is set at 1,500 members.

Dates this year are set about a week earlier than in past campaigns, to avoid the business rush usually accompanying the arrival of the first of the month, and also to avoid conflicting with the partridge hunting season.

The tenth anniversary idea will be carried out all through the campaign. It is ten years since the canvass was conducted to obtain funds for erection of the building, and the same campaign leaders and workers will be asked to serve this time in the capacities they worked ten years ago. Vacancies in the original ranks will be filled by some of the best workers of later campaigns.

No change will be made this year in the membership rates, George F. Werner, general secretary announces.

Advertises Valley
A new idea in advertising the Fox river valley has been evolved by a Fond du Lac "fox" painter, Albert Jaeger, who is preparing signs to be erected in that city and bearing the following slogan: "Gateway to the Fox River valley, the entrance to the playground of Wisconsin."

THE YELLOW SEVEN. THE PASSING OF ZARA-KHAN

BY EDMUND SNELL.
ILLUSTRATED BY

As he flung open the door, a scene of utter chaos met his eyes. The door at the far end of the room was wide open. Between this and where he stood a table had been overturned, from behind which trickled a steady, dark stream. The chimney of the swinging lamp was shattered and the atmosphere was thick with smoke and soot. One window had been wrenched clean from its fastenings and the bookcase in the corner had fallen forward—arrested half way by a chair—and had tipped its contents into a jumbled heap.

He pushed the table back into place and recoiled in horror.

A man in a turban of red and gold lay full on his face. Beneath him, lashed to a chair, lay a second form that kicked and rocked to and fro in impotent fury.

Pennington lifted Zara-Khan to one side.

"Varney!"

"Oh, it's me all right," growled the other. "Your man arrived just in time to prevent Mr. Chai-Hung making sure his knife settled both of us! For the love of Mike, cut these confounded strings!"

"Where's Rabat-Pilal?" asked Pennington, opening his knife.

For the first time Varney smiled. "Dashed good man that! He got here before Chai-Hung could round on him—and severed his spitoil-hand with one blow from a perfectly ghastly looking weapon."

"Severed Chai-Hung's hand?"

The one with the ring on it. I suppose he's off after him—trying to get the rest!"

As Pennington stooped to cut the ropes his eye fell upon the trader's bare chest.

Tattooed in the space that Varney had summoned Zara-Khan to fill—was the grim sign of the Yellow Seven.

"A Game of Chance," the next episode of this gripping series, will start in our next issue.

THE YELLOW SEVEN. A GAME OF CHANCE

BY EDMUND SNELL.
ILLUSTRATED BY
R.W. SATERFIELD

This unusual series of stories deals with the exploits of "Chinese" Pennington, a detective sent by his government to British North Borneo to run to earth the Yellow Seven, a gang of Chinese bandits.

It was one of those gray, close, unhealthy days that Major Armitage came to Jesselton, B. N. B.

He stood in a commanding position in the center of the first-class deck of the little Barudu—moored alongside the white jetty—a tall figure with an aristocratic stoop and a monocle that delighted all native beholders. When Captain John Hewitt—Commissioner of Police—observed him through his binoculars from the veranda of his bungalow the newcomer appeared to be giving orders to everybody within hearing.

"Jack," called Monica from her chair, "who is it?"

Her brother glanced back.

"You're merely guessing," he retorted. "You couldn't possibly see from where you are."

"I can. Would you like me to prove it? A long, lean, stoopy man with a funny pug nose and red hair."

"And—there you are!" interpolated Chinese Pennington through the office window. "Monica has the eye of an hawk!"

Pennington climbed through the window and took the glasses from the other's hand. Monica gave a little impatient toss to her shock of fair curls, folded down the page of the book she had been reading and joined them by the rail.

"That," said Pennington, pointing down the hill, "is Major James Lacey Armitage."

"D. S. O.," murmured Monica.

"I fancy you're wrong there. He has three ribbons—almost as broad as they are long. One is for going to Messina just after the earthquake; the second I don't know, and the third he obtained by giving up his seat in a bus to a Russian Grand-Duchess."

Monica laughed.

"The question is," said Hewitt, "what's his particular object in coming here."

"What's his particular stunt?"

"Blood and iron! Addresses a dinner-party as if he were back on parade with the unimpeachable hussars. Armitage is one of those men who talks until they give him a job simply to get rid of him."

"I see," said the Commissioner. "You don't happen to know, I suppose, what sort of billet they've fixed him up with this time?"

Chinese Pennington was engaged in rolling a cigarette.

"They couldn't find him a vacancy—so they made a job for him. He's a sort of traveling inspector."

"Oh!" gasped Monica. "You don't think they've sent him here to take Jack's place?"

"Not on your life! Armitage don't like work. He's on the cushiest thing he's ever struck—and nothing short of an earthquake'll induce him to chuck it up. He'll inspect the barracks, parade all the native troops, drill them himself, nose into the cook-houses, waste everybody's time—and write a stinking report home to England condemning everybody."

Monica Viney's forehead wrinkled.

"Won't that be rather serious?"

Pennington smiled.

"It'd be disastrous—if anybody at home took Armitage seriously. As far as I can make out, to be condemned by my friend in the monocle is the finest recommendation for promotion and increase of pay a police officer can have."

The Commissioner wound the leather sling carefully round the binoculars and consigned them to the crockroach-eaten case that hung from the wall.

"And all this," he complained, "when I'm up to my eyes in work! Monica'll have to entertain him, that's all."

"I like that!"

"I thought you would. Our visitor appears to be a perfectly harmless sort of idiot, although a bit of a bore."

"You have to be a bore if you wear a monocle," asserted Monica wisely. "I warn you, Peter, that if you attempt to conspire with Jack to leave me alone with that man—I shall flirt with him outrageously."

"Sorry—but while the dashing Major is explaining to you what he did when he served with the kh hussars, I shall not improbably be wandering in the wilderness in search of Mr. Chai-Hung's latest hiding place. True enough, our pet bandit was badly winged by Rabat-Pilal and the activities of the Yellow Seven have been temporarily suspended; but while Chai-Hung exists there's going to be trouble on this island, and it's up to me to stop it."

Chinese Pennington spread out his hands.

"Vanished from the face of the earth."

"Lost his left hand in your last stunt, didn't he?" queried the Commissioner. "Wherever he happens to be Chai-Hung'll be thirsting for your blood."

A heavenly smile spread over Pennington's boyish features.

"I didn't do it. I only wish I had. It was my chief of staff—Rabat-Pilal—who accomplished the dirty deed. He's dried the gruesome relic over the fire and carries it about with him."

"And the ring," said Monica eagerly, "the ring with the green stone?"

"He wears that. I hadn't the heart to deprive him of it, seeing that the bandit robbed him of an ear and an eye on their last encounter."

Monica retreated to her chair and, folding her hands over one knee, gazed through palm-leaf slopes to the riband-like road below.

"I wish with all my heart you could catch him, Peter. I hate to think of you roaming about in the jungle with every Chinaman's hand against you; it gets on my nerves."

"I wonder if he's heard that I'm still in the land of living," mused Pennington. "Did I ever tell you that Varney buried me with all due pomp and ceremony—and placed a suitable inscription over my head?"

Rich Babies Have Mother Of High Type

Nurses Find Lucrative Employment In Caring-For Society Women's Infants

New York — "Society women are among the highest types of mothers we have in the country today. "Debutantes develop into splendid mothers. "Daughters of first families usually have from four to six children, sometimes more. "This version of "high life" comes from Edith Charlick, who manages an agency that supplies babies' nurses to many of the first families of New York. "The young mothers of today have become well educated in the way in which their babies should be cared for," she continues. "They demand the best of training in their nurses and are constantly reading and keeping themselves up to date in child lore."

NURSE AGENCY
Miss Charlick started her agency nine years ago and now has 5419 babies' nurses registered with her. Each nurse to qualify for the care of babies must have a high school education, two references from physicians and one from a family, and must hold a diploma or certificate from a recognized nurses' training school.

With these she may command from $110 to $125 dollars a month and have every expense of living included in her contract. The nurse is so much in demand that she can choose where she may go for the summer or winter.

In connection with the regular work of the agency, Miss Charlick carries a line of fine hand-made baby clothes. Some of these are made by nurses who are no longer able to do their regular work. It is with these dainty things she will decorate her booth at the Women's activity Exhibit this fall, which is to be held under the auspices of the League of Business and Professional Women.

REAL MOTHERS
"My primary interest in my work," says Miss Charlick, "is in the babies. I have tried to raise the standard of requirements for babies' nurses in the minds of the mothers as well as with the nurses themselves."

"And I find no class of people more responsive to interests in babies than the society girls and those who have every opportunity to submerge their maternal interests in the pursuit of pleasure."

"I believe it speaks well for the future of the race when the richest women in the country are so interested in baby welfare and in having large families."

Marry Late, Advises Grandmother At 31

ANNA CHANDLER

New York — Marry late if you'd be happy. The youthful marriage spells heartache and disillusionment. So says the world's youngest grandmother.

She is Anna Chandler, just turned 31. Confirmed vaudeville-goers who have seen this animated bit of bobbed hair and fluff whirl out onto the stage and into the jazziest of ragtime probably will gasp as much at one confession as the other.

"But the title of youngest grandmother is not one for any girl to covet," she told me.

"No girl ought to marry before she is 25. I was 14 when my baby girl was born. She was 16 when she told me she was going to be married. I didn't wait her to—I was afraid she was just in love with love, as so many of us are when we're young. But she did—and now her baby is three months old."

The world's youngest grandmother smiled ruefully.

"A woman is most attractive at 31. The woman of 31 has all that the girl of 17 can offer—plus experience. I think men get heartily sick of a girl who bleats and bleats without ever saying anything.

"Men truly love the woman who knows how to manage them."

"These are among the reasons why the girl who marries young cannot be happy."

"She doesn't know what love is. She has no means of knowing whether her husband will become a substantial business man or a dead loss on her hands. She doesn't know how to manage men. Lacking this knowledge, frequently she loses the little happiness life might offer her."

"If she has children they demand all of her energy; and 31, which should see her a lovely, mature woman at the height of her powers, frequently finds her dull and discouraged, looking forward to old age."

But is the world's youngest grandmother looking forward to dull, discouraging old age?

My goodness, who ever thought of such a thing?

"I could fascinate a man now more quickly than I could 10 years ago," she told me. "And I'm not nearly so good looking, either."

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

HOME-MADE PICKLES

The thrifty housekeeper will make her own pickles. In winter and spring good home-made pickles stimulate many a faded appetite and help take the place of a formal appetizer. Gherkins are expensive to buy when put up, but not out of reach for most pocketbooks during the pickling season. They are delicious to serve with sandwiches for a Sunday night lunch. The pickles can be used with afternoon tea sandwiches.

GHERKINS

One hundred small cucumbers, 2 quarts boiling water, 2 cups salt, 1 gallon vinegar, 4 sticks cinnamon, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons mustard seed, 4 tablespoons whole cloves, 1 tablespoon celery seed, lump of alum size of a nutmeg.

Wash cucumbers and wipe with a dry cloth. Put in a large, deep crock and pour over brine. The brine is made by dissolving the salt in the boiling water. Cover crock with a cheesecloth and let stand three days. Drain brine from cucumbers and wash brine to the boiling point. Pour over cucumbers and let stand three days.

Drain brine from cucumbers and let stand in alum water over night. Drain off alum water and let stand in clear water for three hours. Drain off water.

Put cucumbers, vinegar and spices in preserving kettle. Bring to the boiling point and simmer, closely covered for ten minutes. Pack pickles in sterilized jars. Fill with vinegar and seal.

CUCUMBER RINGS

Good-sized cucumbers are used for these pickles, but the seeds must be tender.

One ounce stick cinnamon, 1 ounce whole cloves, 1 ounce whole allspice, 3 pounds brown sugar, 3 pints vinegar.

Soak cucumbers in a strong brine for three days. Drain off brine and soak in clear water for three days. Drain and simmer in weak vinegar for two hours. A small lump of alum should be added to the vinegar.

Cut cucumbers in inch rings. Pack in a crock and pour over the vinegar, sugar and spices which have been boiling. Drain off vinegar and heat to the boiling point for three successive mornings. When cool after the third morning cover with a big plate and store in a dark cool place. These pickles are a delicious sweet pickle.

White Collar And Cuffs Newest On Serge Dress

Whatever else we may have derived from the Orient we certainly never, never derived the fashion for lingerie collars and cuffs. Sometimes it seems as if the orientalism of women's clothes had progressed to an alarming extent. Japan, China, Egypt, India, Persia have contributed so much by way of decoration, fabric texture, silhouette, that it is small wonder that women of the orient are adopting so-called occidental clothes. But the lingerie collar and cuff is entirely, completely European and relatively modern at that. It is no late classic or Moven Age than it is Chinese or Egyptian. The idea of the detachable washable collar and cuffs could only be a fashion development of a Northern country—where comfort demands warm, substantial clothing and cleanliness demands something readily washable next the skin. With the flowing, easily washed gowns of India, Egypt, Persia, and other warm climes such accessories would be absurd. So thank fortune there is something to be proclaimed as new in the late summer and autumn mode that has not come to us from the East. Moralists who trace the much talked-about perversity of the day to oriental influence might take heart at this return of this neat little accessory—the washable lingerie collar and cuff. Navy blue, like the lingerie collar and cuff, never, never, came into fashion by way of the orient. It is as truly accidental as the navy uniform from which it was derived. And the lingerie collar and cuff go hand in hand with the navy blue frock or suit. We tried to wear them without their complement of white or cream color at the neckline, but, honestly, we were not successful. So, while the lingerie collar and cuff has been out of fashion, so, too, has navy blue to a large extent. Already well-dressed women in Paris—Americans as well as French women—have adopted navy blue plus white lingerie accessories for street and walking; and there is no longer a remote chance that the style will not be taken up with real enthusiasm in this country with the coming of autumn.

JAPS URGE CHANGE IN HOURS TO EASE TRAFFIC

By Associated Press
Tokio — The Tokio Electric Bureau which operates the street car system of the city, has adopted new measures to relieve congestion at the rush hours. It has asked the banks and business concerns of Marunouchi, the Wall Street district of Tokio, to rearrange the hours of their employees so that all will not arrive at and leave their offices at the same time. A recent investigation revealed that about 200,000 persons employed in offices in the Marunouchi district ride on the cars between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning, and between 5 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. It is believed the present traffic jam will be eliminated if half of the workers arrive and depart half an hour earlier than the rest.

Lass Has Post In Montana As Civil Engineer

Missoula, Mont. — Women in business and the professions haven't been the exception for a long time, but not many have gone in for civil engineering.

In fact, Miss Lou Alta Melton is the only woman member of the Colorado Society of Engineers.

She is also president of the Society of Woman Engineers and Architects, which she organized herself, believing the time isn't far distant when more of her sex will take up these branches of work.

With offices in Missoula, Miss Melton designs and checks the designs for bridges in Montana and Idaho.

"On leaving high school," she says, "I began teaching, thinking it the only profession for women. My brother was taking electrical engineering, and for three years I spent so many evenings studying his problems that I became interested and decided to be an engineer."

"The fall of 1916 found me registered in the engineering college of the University of Colorado. I was graduated in June, 1920, with the degree of bachelor of science."

During the summer of 1918 I worked for the Midwest Refining Company at Casper, Wyo.; during the next summer for the United States Bureau of Public Roads, Denver, and after graduation I was again employed by the same bureau. In September I was transferred to the Missoula office as an assistant bridge engineer.

"While it is doubtful if women will take up engineering as a profession to the extent it is pursued by men, yet it is evident that the highest attainment of the human race in general will only come when men and women work together shoulder to shoulder for the same purposes and ideals."

The Tangle

(An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters.)

MY DEAR BOY:

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HER SON JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

I cannot resist writing you although you have not answered my last letter, but I am sure I know the reason why. Do not be too proud, son, to confide in your mother.

She understands you, John, better than anyone else in the world. All mothers understand, John. If children would only take their mother's advice often they would be able to avoid much trouble.

I would not write you this, only dear Priscilla Bradford has been in New York for a week and she wrote me that the other night she saw Leslie at the Midnight Follies with Karl Whitney. They were alone and Leslie seemed just basking in the devoted attentions of that rich young Lothario. Dear Priscilla says that Leslie had on a low-cut gown with her arms bare.

Have you quarreled with Leslie, John? Why did she meet this old-time lover of hers in New York?

Dear Priscilla said she knew that you were not in town as Leslie looked so perfectly unattached and fancy free.

Oh John! I did not tell you so, but I felt that you were making a great mistake when you married this pleasure-loving, frivolous girl. Dear Priscilla told me that in this public place Leslie was smoking a cigarette and that she also followed that shameless custom which many foolish women practice of rouging and powdering her face where all may see.

Dear Priscilla wrote me that she saw took out a stick of red paint and smeared it over her lips and that she evidently asked Karl Whitney if it were put on properly for she made a little pouting motion with her lips and he nodded with a smile. Then they floated off in a dance.

John, I believe this that I am telling you might be made of enough importance for you to secure a divorce from your misguided wife and great reluctance, dear Priscilla would tell this to the witness stand if you should deem it necessary for her to do so. Dear Priscilla has never been one to try to avoid a duty no matter how repugnant it was to her gentle soul.

You know that as a rule I do not believe in divorce, but I know that you are suffering and unhappy and I believe that after Time had softened the hurt that Leslie has given your pride, you would realize you never really loved her and you would also realize that there were other girls in the world who were more worthy of you and who could make you happier. The right kind of a girl would never think of looking at another man when once she is married.

I have given the contract for painting the house as I knew, being your mother, I had only to ask anything of you, my son, to receive it. If Leslie has left you, you certainly will not contribute to her support. Let her get it from her rich father if she cannot get it from her rich lover.

Write me immediately, John, for I shall be very anxious to know if I am the first one to open your eyes to what is going on in New York and if you and Leslie had quarreled before she left.

Dear Priscilla Bradford tells me that she is going around to the hotels tomorrow and see if either Leslie or Karl Whitney is registered at any one of them.

YOUR MOTHER, TOMORROW: John Prescott's reply—Enraged at his mother.

Adventures Of The Twins

The Upsy Downies

In Rainbow Land there's a place where the Upsy Downies live. Because they do everything in exactly the opposite way that it really should be done.

And that was the next place Nancy and Nick came to.

"What a funny place!" exclaimed Nancy. "The back door's on the street and the tea-towels are hanging where everyone can see them. And the ash-cans and the milk bottles and everything."

"Forward foot worst our, putting in believe always We," said an Upsy Downsy, overhearing Nancy's remark.

"You'll have to turn his words backward," whispered Mister Sky Bow. "For they put their last word first like the Chinamen."

"Oh, you believe in putting your worst foot forward," repeated Nancy. "Is that it?"

"It that's. Yes," nodded the Upsy Downsy, "us about all you tell I'll."

"That's fine," cried the Twins. But Nick had an idea. "Wait," he cried. "I'll have to write it down for if you talk backward we can't remember so much. There now, go ahead, please."

So the Upsy Downsy began, but if you wish to read it, my dears, you will have to begin at the last word and read to the top. This is what the funny little fellow said:

"All That's, us like to anyone want don't we and odd be to like We. folk well to medicine give only and onions and beefsteak babies our feed. "Then we shall leave at once," said Nancy. "I'm sure we won't stay where we aren't wanted."

And they all marched off. (To Be Continued)

Kenosha Angling For Lathrop; Lamers May Pitch In Sunday Game

Big Bill Considers Offer Of Midwest Club, But Will Work For Sylvester In Two Final Contests

"Big Bill" Lathrop has received an offer from the Kenosha club of the Midwest league to pitch for it for more money per game than the Appleton management can afford to pay him in a month, and is considering whether to accept. To add to his temptation, the Kenosha magnates have consented to permit him to pitch for the Papermakers after next Sunday, and Bill is in a quandary. He has requested "Dutch" Sylvester, leave to absent himself from the Green Bay contest, and another pitcher probably will take his place in that game.

M. LAMERS OR STOCK
However, as the locals have only two more games to play after the next one, Sylvester may manage to worry along without the star hurler who has pitched his way into favor since signing with the Appleton club. Marty Lamers pitched successfully against the Breckinridge Monday, and there is no reason why he can't do as much against another team. There is a possibility that Harvey Stock will occupy the mound if Lathrop does not show up Sunday, but Sylvester has not yet completed arrangements for that contingency.

RICKARD TALKS OF WILLS-SIKI BATTLE

Senegalese Fighter Proposes Match To Tex. Who Is Eager To Oblige

New York—Bartling Siki and Harry Wills, for a big blow. How would that sound?
The Senegalese had a long talk with Promoter Tex Rickard on Tuesday, and when they concluded Siki said he would like to hook up with that Harry Wills man. Rickard was there like a duck, and wants the battle and Wills for a twelve round shot in Jersey City. The promoter has a notion that a row between Wills and Siki will go over his on Oct. 5.

William Klein, attorney for Harry Wills, announced that he would take legal action and even go as high as the governor's office and the legislature, if necessary, to ascertain why the New York state athletic commission had not forced Jack Dempsey to go through with the agreement to fight Wills after the latter's challenge and $2,500 check has lain before the commission nearly two years.
Klein and Manager Paddy Mullins appeared before the boxing board on Tuesday, and after the lawyer had vainly tried to elicit some definite information as to the status of Wills, Commissioner McCormick arose and declared the interview at an end and Klein and Mullins were virtually invited to leave the sanctum of the board.

BABE HITS HOMER NO. 33 AS YANKEES BEAT MACKS, 6-3

Pirates One Game Behind Reds Who Drop Game, 6 To 2, To Pittsburgh

Chicago—Babe Ruth hammered out his thirty-third homer of the season Wednesday in the New York American game with Philadelphia and tied Cy Williams for the 1923 homerun lead of the world, and regained the batting average lead which for a few hours was held by Harry Hellman. The Yankees beat the Athletics, 6 to 3, in a fast game.

The Cincinnati Reds lost in Pittsburgh, thereby dropping four games behind New York who was idle, and allowing the Pirates to come within one game of a tie for second place. The Pittsburghers won, 6 to 2, taking the lead in the fifth inning on a wild throw by Luque and then steadily advancing.

The Cuban allowed 13 hits. In the other big league game of the day the Washington Americans trimmed Boston, 5 to 4, ending the Boston series with a 3 to 1 victory.

The Pittsburgh Nationals have purchased Min Minatree, star pitcher of the Nashville club of the Southern association. Several Pittsburgh players will go to Nashville as part payment.

Frankie Murphy, flashy shortstop of the Bloomington, Ill. club of the Three Eye league, has been acquired by the Nashville club of the Southern association. Pitcher Buckelew, formerly with Des Moines of the Western league also signed with Nashville.

Two more recruits have reported to the Chicago Americans. They are leftfielder Purdy and Catcher Conkey. Both were purchased from the Lincoln, Neb. club of the Nebraska State league.

APPLETON BOXING SEASON WILL START LATE IN SEPTEMBER

Initial Fight Card Includes "Gunner" Joe Quinn, St. Paul Middleweight

Appleton boxing season will open about the third week in September with a card which includes "Gunner" Joe Quinn, the classy St. Paul boxer who headlines. Fought in Las Vegas a fight for Sept. 14, in which several Appleton fighters are scheduled to take part, but the card has not yet been completed.
Local fight fans have shown considerable interest in the career of Quinn since his quick victory over Jimmy Nuss, the Milwaukee middleweight here on July 4. Since that time, the Gunner has fought his way to a place near the top of the list in Canada, and promoters are now negotiating with some of the leading middleweights in an effort to bring them here to meet the St. Paul slugger. He was once slated to meet Mike McGigue, world's light heavy weight champion but the match failed to materialize, owing, perhaps, to the lateness of the season and the fact that McGigue's schedule calls for more fights than he can handle.
Quinn recently defeated Phil Krup of Jersey City, and also Jack Perry of Buffalo.

DUNDEE-LEONARD CARD SPOILED BY JOHNNY'S DEFEAT

Boxing Commission Upholds Decision Of Promoters To Postpone Bout

New York—Johnny Dundee featherweight champion and lightweight title aspirant, fought and lost one battle on Wednesday, but it was not with Benny Leonard.
Before a special meeting of the New York state athletic commission Wednesday afternoon, Dundee protested vigorously against the postponement by Promoter Jimmy Johnston of the Italian's scheduled match Wednesday night at the Yankee stadium with the lightweight champion, but after hearing all the evidence the boxing commissions sanctioned the postponement.
The commission ruled that Johnny was within his rights in taking advantage of a clause in the fight contract permitting its abrogation in the event either of the principals was defeated in any other engagement before the title match. Dundee recently was defeated in a bout with Eddie (Kid) Wagner at Philadelphia.

LEONARD AGREES
Dundee's attitude, meanwhile, may result in abandonment of the match altogether. After Johnston's proposal to stage the bout at the stadium on Sept. 25, Dundee told the commission he would give his answer on Friday, but to newspapermen later he flatly declared he would not go through with the match at all. Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, however, agreed to the postponement date.
Dundee manifested keen resentment against Johnston's statement on Tuesday that the postponement was a result of the challenger's alleged poor physical condition. Insisting that he had been examined and weighed in as he would have been if the bout had not been called off, the featherweight champion said he was never in better shape. Overruled in this request, Dundee declared he would claim Leonard's title and the weight forfeit of $5,000 posted by the latter, but the commission advised him, it was understood, that he had no ground upon which to base such action.

ADVANCE SALE SMALL
Prospects of financial loss, had the bout been held Wednesday night, concerned Johnston as much as Dundee's physical condition. It developed at the meeting of the commission, which recognized, in its formal statement, that the contest was "likely to meet with disappointing patronage." It was said the advance sale had fallen far below expectations.
Dundee reiterated his charge that the postponement also was influenced by Leonard's inability to make the lightweight limit of 135 pounds, but this was denied by Gibson. The latter said Leonard weighed 135½ pounds on Tuesday and was willing to scale before the commission on Wednesday, but, in view of the postponement, this was not required.

Dempsey Wants To Finish Flat On Ring Floor

Saratoga Springs, N. Y. — Jack Dempsey wants to be stretched on the resined floor of the ring with a referee, swinging a count over him when his time comes to press into the ranks of beaten champions.
He revealed his wishes Thursday when he told Jack Kearns, his manager, that no matter what happens in his championship battle with Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo grounds a week from Friday night, he does not want a towel thrown into the ring as a token of defeat, even if he is staggering helpless around the ring.
"I have told the same thing to the others who will be in my corner," Dempsey said. "I want to be flat on my back when my time comes to take it. No towels to be thrown into the ring for me. I'm going out fighting, without any dispute about the finish."
The champion, judging from his mental attitude, is not worrying over the result of the coming battle. He laughs and jokes with his camp associates and shows none of the nervous irritability characteristic of him a week before previous battles.

JACK WORKS FOR SPEED AND WIND AFTER LETUP

Saratoga, N. Y.—After a day of rest which he spent around his training camp on Tuesday, Jack Dempsey planned to resume training on Wednesday. He was seen with Luis Angel Firpo, the champion, and he said he felt satisfied with his boxing and hitting and that he would turn his attention now to the development of speed and wind. He said he weighed 133 pounds and he intends to enter the ring at 134 pounds.
New York—Paddy Mullins, sport promoter, started suit against Harry Greb, charging that the pugilist failed to keep his contract and appear July 12, to fight left Smith in a 15 round bout at Atlantic, Ga.
Hamline, Minn.—One automobile race driver was instantly killed and another fatally burned in two spectacular accidents during the Minnesota State fair race and a third driver was seriously injured when his car turned over twice in an automobile polo game.

JOHN SALADNA
And he banks on John to bring about their realization.

Kansas City, Mo.—A real pitching find!
John Saladna, rookie twirler for the Kansas City Blues, is building up that reputation all over the American Association circuit.
And no wonder!
He has won all games Manager Bill Good has started him in this season. There are seven of 'em to his credit so far.
"Some record for a greenhorn," says Good.
With Saladna hurling victory after victory, the Blues' chances for the pennant are excellent.
Now the team is close on the heels of St. Paul. It's only behind by a small margin, and Bill Good has fond hopes.

BELOIT GRID YEAR OPENS WITH DEKALB CONTEST AT BELOIT

By Associated Press
Beloit—Thirty candidates for this season's football team are expected to draw suits for the opening of the Beloit college training season, Sept. 13, with the first game of the season against DeKalb normal three weeks away.
Tommy Mills, head coach, expects to have increased the squad to forty men by the time school opens, and in addition to these will have a complete freshman squad. The rules of the midwest college Little Eight conference, of which Beloit, Ripon and Lawrence are members, do not permit the use of freshmen on the varsity squad.
For the first time in the history of the institution, Mills will have two complete teams in action against each other every night that a scrimmage is scheduled.
The season's schedule which closed November 24, with Ripon at Beloit follows:

NIEMAN BACK ON GREEN BAY SQUAD

Michigan Varsity Center For Three Years Accepts Football Terms

Green Bay—Wally Neman, Michigan varsity center for three years, will again hold down the pivotal post for Green Bay on the football gridiron this season. The Neminomee, Mich., star accepted terms on Friday afternoon.
Neman joined Green Bay after the first Racine game last season and he was one of the most brilliant performers on the forward line. Wally would rather chase the pigskin than eat and he always gives his best from first to last whistle.
LINE SHAPING UP
With Neman in the fold, the Bears have the three critical spots on the forward line filled as Buck and Sarpa, the two tackles, have already signed contracts. Kenyon is lined up to play guard, if necessary. While Cowboy Wheeler is the one end man under contract, Mathys, Mills, Labaque and Pasing, are the backfielders signed up.
New York—Paddy Mullins, manager for Harry Wills, heavyweight title aspirant, obtained an order in Brooklyn supreme court directing Tex Rickard to show cause why a writ should not be issued restraining the conduct of the Dempsey-Firpo fight. He said Wills was the logical opponent for Dempsey because he had a $2,500 fee felt posted for more than a year.

MARQUETTE GRID MENTORS SIGN UP FOR LONG TERMS

Move Is Intended To Put Hilltop Athletics On Better Basis

Milwaukee—Signing by the three Marquette university football coaches—Frank J. Murray, Tufts Freeman Fitzgerald, Notre Dame, and Lloyd R. Scott, Colgate—of contracts for a term of years has been announced by the Hilltop athletic board.
This move, it is believed, puts athletics on a better basis at Marquette and paves the way for the expansion program that has been tentatively outlined and that is taking shape this season with the scheduling of inter-sectional games with Boston college and the University of Vermont. The number of years for which the coaches signed was not made public.
With replies received from most of his prospects and with many inquiries from promising newcomers, it is probable that Head Coach Murray will find his training facilities at Lake Beulah crowded when the fall drilling starts, Sept. 10. Arrangements are being made for a capacity squad.
Although efforts are still being made to schedule a game for Sept. 29, which date remains open, it is probable that the season will be opened in Milwaukee on Oct. 6, when Coach Tom Skemp's St. Mary's college eleven of Winona, Minn., will do battle. Then follow Ripon and Carroll after which the intensive grid will begin with the game at Boston, Mass., on Oct. 27. The University of Detroit will be met in Detroit on Nov. 3; North Dakota university in Milwaukee, Nov. 10; South Dakota state here, Nov. 17, and the University of Vermont on the local American association park gridiron on Turkey day.
Joe (Red) Dunn, Milwaukee, is captain this year, and Gervase Clark, Green Bay, Wis., heads the staff of managers.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans
What constitutes interference by the batsman when his bat is the weapon of interference? Must it be intentional to be penalized?
There is a runner on first. The batsman attempts to sacrifice the runner to second. His effort is a bunt down the third-base line.
The catcher dashes out to make a play. As he is about to pick up the ball and make a play on the runner, the batsman so throws his bat that it hits the ball, making it impossible for the catcher to complete the play. The runner on first went to third and the batsman reached first.
When the batsman threw his bat he had his back to the play and probably had no intention of interfering. Should that fact receive any consideration?
THE INTERPRETATION
The batsmen should be declared out for interference.
When his bat came into contact with the ball, preventing the catcher from picking it up and making a play, he created an interference.
No consideration can be given to the fact that he had his back to the play, and had no idea his bat would prevent a play by the catcher.
If serious consideration was given to the intent, the umpire would always be in trouble on an interference play. The player would invariably contend there was no intent to interfere.
The batsman should have been declared out, and the runner who went from first to third sent back to first, as no runners can advance on such an interference.

"M-M" Scribes Blame Umps For Loss Of Games

As usual, the Marinette-Menominee sport scribes have put down their double defeat here Labor day, as well as the previous drubbing at the hands of the Chairs to lack of perception on the part of the umpires. That alibi seems to be a favorite one with hard losers. It must be admitted however, that the M-M pen pushers allowed the Papermakers part of the credit for winning the second Monday contest, for they both wrote that their "pitchers failed to come through."
Possibly if the management of the club were to hire an umpire of its own now that it has lightened its load by releasing Hank Schultz, according to a recent report, the Twins might have a chance of winning the pennant—in a fourth-rate amateur league. Hank has been unfortunate in his choice of teams since he left the Appleton lineup some years ago, but has few other faults as a pitcher. If it is true that the darkest hour comes just before dawn, he must be due to run into a brilliant sunrise very shortly.

New York—The United States Golf association announced a supplementary list of forty seven players eligible to compete in the national amateur championship at Chicago, beginning Sept. 15, bringing the total of eligible contestants up to 250.

Toronto—The first of the series of races for the Richardson cup representing the championship of the class R. boats on the Great Lakes was called off when at the end of the time limit Ariel, Lake Michigan champion of Chicago was in the lead and still three miles from the finishing mark.

Paris—Quentin Romero, a Chilean heavyweight fighter, knocked out Larry Gains, former heavyweight amateur champion of Ontario in the tenth round of a scheduled 20 round bout.

Joe (Red) Dunn, Milwaukee, is captain this year, and Gervase Clark, Green Bay, Wis., heads the staff of managers.

There is no secret in the fact that Connie has always liked Black Jack and admired his qualities as a ball-player, manager and man. If he does take it into his head to retire from active work on the bench, there is no likelier candidate for the position as skipper for the A's than Connecticut John Barry.

Dance at Apple Creek Pavilion, Friday, Sept. 7th, Music by Five Shiny Performers of Sheboygan. Appleton - Green Bay Busses will leave Pettibone's at 8:15.

Chicago—With continued lack of buying interest beyond immediate needs the cheese market here Wednesday continued weak, dull and unsettled.

Some large business could have been completed at buyers' prices but in the majority of cases too great a concession would have had to be made. The relative light supply of longhorns and square prints forced buyers to pay up to 25 cents but these were the only styles that showed any strength at all.

Goes To Jail When He Fails To Heed Advice

It was hard to convince Leslie Acord, 1105 DeForest-ave, that abuse of one's wife is not in accord with twentieth century standards. Police answered a summons to his home Wednesday evening when it was learned that he was mistreating his wife. Acord was taken to the police station where he was given a lecture on the proper treatment of a wife. He promised to behave, but instead of carrying out his promise he filled up with more moonshine and then went home and began to tear the clothes off his wife. He threatened to "tear down the very house." After spending the night in jail, Acord was taken into municipal court Thursday morning and there sentenced by Judge A. M. Spencer to spend the next 20 days in the county jail.

CHIEF IS SCOLDED FOR USING POLICE CAR OUT OF CITY

Police And Fire Board Also Gets Letter Of Thanks For Prim

At the meeting of the Appleton police and fire commission Wednesday evening a report was adopted reprimanding Chief George T. Prim of the police force for alleged unnecessary use of the police touring car. The complete findings of the commission are to be published in a few days. After investigating the testimony taken at the recent public hearing in which charges were preferred against Chief Prim, the commission concluded that some of the trips taken by the police car outside the city of Appleton were unnecessary. The commission instructed the chief that hereafter the police car is to be used sparingly outside the city in cases where crime originates outside the city. It also instructed the chief that the police should give honored guests of the city adequate police protection but that such honored and distinguished guests be prevented from speeding at a rate of more than 30 miles an hour on county highways. A letter of thanks was submitted to the commission by A. C. Remley on behalf of the Waverly Masonic lodge thanking the chief for his cooperation with the order in the holding of their street parade. The monthly report of Chief Prim also was read.

INSPECTOR HERE TO LOOK AFTER LICENSES ON DOGS

M. H. Alberts of Madison, a state inspector for the Wisconsin department of agriculture, was in Appleton Wednesday to confer with John E. Hantschel, county clerk, on the matter of delinquent dog taxes. All towns, villages and cities are required to file with the county clerk a report of delinquent dog taxes, but thus far only eight municipalities have reported to Mr. Hantschel.

START DRIVE TO COLLECT OVERDUE HOSPITAL PLEDGES

Franciscan Sisters Need Money To Pay Contractors Who Erected Building

Assistance which will enable the sisters of St. Elizabeth hospital to meet their building obligations promptly will be given by about 30 business men who will meet at Conway hotel next Tuesday evening to formulate a plan to collect overdue pledges for the new structure.

The Franciscan order is placed in a serious predicament because all of the amount pledged by Appleton citizens has not been paid, although the 2-year period of installments has expired. The contract with C. R. Meyer and Sons company, which erected the hospital, calls for payment in full 15 days after completion and acceptance of the structure.

A much better building was erected by the Sisters than the one originally contemplated. The cost was much greater, but the order assumed all the additional expense itself. Loans are being made at local banks to take care of some of the most urgent obligations.

Collection of the notes signed by subscribers during the campaign, had been pushed by A. J. McKay, treasurer of the building fund, but he has left the city. The payments now may be made direct to the hospital, or to John Conway at Conway hotel. In Mr. Conway's absence the money may be paid at the private office of the hotel, and proper receipt will be given.

"We must have this money at once," said Mr. Conway, "because the contractors are finished with their work and must be paid. The notes which the people gave us during the campaign are long past due and the building committee is urging everybody to send in checks or cash payments at once. It is only fair to those who already have paid that the remainder be turned in immediately."

"The trouble lasted about four months before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I continued using them and now I am completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. C. E. Morgan, Buncheon, Mo.
